WE NOMINATE

George Walter Conover, 51-year old native of Dutch Neck, and as the president of the Princeton Hospital Board of Trustees, one of the community's most devoted servants, who last week was singled out as Man of the Year by the Princeton Chamber of Commerce. The accolade marks some 25 years of volunteer leadership stemming from Conover's resolve during Air Force service in World War II "to lend a hand to some of the extras that are 'musts' in a town, it and when I return."

A man with a warm and friendly manner that belies a hard-driving sense of getting things done on time, Conover directed the American Red Cross fund drive in Princeton not long after his return from the war, perfecting the area system for volunteer workers that has been adopted by countless charitable organizations. He was called upon by the Mercer County USO and the Salvation Army; he headed the YMCA Membership Drive and served as a member of the YM board. A charter member and past president of the Rotary Club of Princeton, he has been active in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church and the Youth Unemployment Service. For six years, from 1953 to 1959, he was a member of the Princeton Township Board of Education.

Princeton Hospital, now observing its Golden Jubilee Year, has involved him since 1919, when he joined the 15-member board of trustees, in the myriad problems of a community hospital with growing pains. From a less than half-million budget in 1919, Princeton Hospital's operating costs have soared to 19 times that amount, or some $8½ million projected for 1970. With patient admissions at 3,358 in 1919, the trustees last charged Conover with a fund drive to meet costs. Hospital admissions have since tripled to 10,538 this past year.

Planted deep in the community through his continuity and accomplishments, Conover is even more deeply rooted by birth, tracing his ancestry to the early Dutch settlers of this area. His grandfather maintained a carriage business in Dutch Neck for many years. In the early 1920's, his father established the automobile dealership, which Conover now heads. As a boy, he attended the local schools for 11 years, completing his secondary education at Mercersburg Academy in 1936. He received a B.A. in business administration from Rider College in 1939. He is a golfer for relaxation, and a baseball fan.

Conover's efforts for Princeton Hospital really began in 1950 when he was the crusader behind a successful campaign for $195,000, a major effort for the time. In 1953, he was appointed hospital treasurer, a post he held until elected president in 1963. During these years he has spent hours and hours in committee meetings with trustees, medical staff, administration and volunteers. He has established such time-saving and liaison groups as the Joint Conference Committee, made up of representatives of board, staff and administration. And he has turned his wide-ranging know-how to matters as crucial as the now-completed John F. Sly Memorial Laboratory, Merwick additions post he held until elected president in 1963. During and the multi-million dollar "J" building — and as personal an undertaking as a gift for the hospital's 200,000th patient.

For believing in volunteer service in depth; for his adaptability and resourcefulness in meeting the hard challenges of increased numbers of patients and rapid medical advances, and for his foresight in anticipating Princeton's all-important medical needs, he is TOWN TOPICS nominee as

PROFILE OF A YEAR
It's Two-Faced. It took a long time to achieve, but the nation's spring growth was finally brought to a halt in 1969. Although the government's program of restraint instituted near the beginning of the year, needed plenty of time to take effect, fourth quarter figures, particularly those relating to Gross National Product, indicate that the real growth of the American economy has stopped.
For much of the first three quarters, however, the boom continued in many sectors, enabling the TOWN TOPICS year-end index of business in the Princeton area to build up several solid pluses in the top half of the graph. But, growth did not extend to all areas. Percentages farther down fall into the minus column, giving the index a two-faced appearance. (The fourth quarter index appears on Page 32.)

Those on the upside show healthy increases in every instance. Savings and checking accounts both recorded significant gains over the past year, thus enabling loans also to move up sharply.
Time and demand deposits have shown the steadiest increase, rising almost every quarter since the index was first published a decade ago. While this can certainly be taken as a sign of continued financial growth in the Princeton community, it also includes funds many new customers brought from families moving in to the area.

Savings Back Trend. In the fourth quarter alone, savings advanced almost $2 million. This was achieved despite a report of a decline in the rate of savings over the final three months of 1969 for the nation as a whole. The $8 million gain in checking accounts, the largest for any one quarter in years, was recorded in the face of a national slowdown in the rise in personal income. In years past, the Princeton index has never shown a minus percentage since the index began, climbed to a record $1.1 million, an increase of seven percent. Just six total years ago, they amounted to only a little more than half that figure. How much longer can the Palmer Square building handle the yearly increase? The sizeable jump in parking meter receipts could not have been achieved without outside help, every available space is filled for the major part of every business day as it is. However, in 1969 it cost more to park for less time in many places in the Borough, which was flagged by tight money all year, fell by 31 per cent.

Traveler's checks, which showed a 10 percent decline a year ago, rebounded strongly in the fourth quarter, and another indication that people in Princeton seemed more willing to spend money now rather than put off pleasure trips. Property transfers rose, more so than in the Township, giving an indication that more people were on the move this year than last, despite the somewhat unsettled economic future.

On The Down Side. The other face of the index shows a definite downward movement in construction activity and new car sales. Two areas more affected by national trends. The demand for new automobiles across the country has been sluggish for most of the year, especially the latter half. In Princeton, too, the figures are down on balance. Posting a lower total for every quarter in comparison to a year ago, the annual figures finished well below last year's.

Complete figures on total new car sales could not be tabulated because Greer Motors would not release its 1969 fourth quarter sales figures. Greer's fourth quarter sales a year ago were subtracted from the total to make the figures comparable.

er by an explosion and one by children playing with matches. The alarms drew a total of 2,001 firemen from Princeton's volunteer fire companies, who spent a little more than 121 hours battling the fires. The Princeton companies awarded others in the area on eight occasions. The most spectacular blaze was the Applied Data Research fire in November, ignited by the plane crash on the roof.

Library Is Busy. Lately the Princeton Public Library received its own batch of statistics, all showing that it is becoming a busier place every year.

The number of books, records and films circulated rose by almost 15,000 to 336,254. The number of registered borrowers, including non-resident, reached 18,000. The library was open 207 days during the year, making an average daily circulation of 1,191.

Through purchases and gifts, the library added 10,300 books to its collection, which now totals 65,000. Librarian Robert Staples estimates that 134 items per capita were circulated by the library, making it tops in the state. Most libraries aim for nine per capita, Mr. Staples says.

Princetonians were voracious in the readers in the past year, habit unlikely to change with the 70's.

WANT TO BE PRINCIPAL?

Search Is Renewed. Wounding of candidates for the job of principal at Princeton High School has begun again.

"We are renewing our search," says Stanley Stein, director of personnel. Letters have been sent to about 70 names remaining in the files after the abortive search of last spring, Mr. Stein said. "We're encouraging these people to update their resumes for us. Of course, not all the 70 will still be available."

An advertisement in Sunday's New York Times offered the job of Princeton High School Principal as a "September vacancy."

Salary is open, at the moment, said Superintendent Phil W. McPherson. He estimates that candidates will be offered a salary in the $28,000 to $35,000 range, but he added we're not offering a specific amount.

No staff members from the Princeton Regional Schools have applied so far, Dr. McPherson said.

Mr. Stein added that, besides placing Times advertisements and renewing contacts with former applicants, he is seeking out people who are just completing their studies and haven't yet decided on a job. "We've sent letters to about 250 colleges that offer advanced degrees in education, and we're getting back replies," he stated.

Searching for a way to describe the ideal — and presumably successful — candidate Dr. McPherson said he's looking for someone who is "an individual, an interesting individual" — perhaps with the kind of charisma that doesn't necessarily come across on paper.

When more applications have been received, Dr. McPherson said he will again meet with high school representatives to discuss the question.

REGISTER IN PERSON

For Princeton Adult School. Those planning to enroll in the Princeton Adult School who have not already mailed reservations are urged to register in person on Thursday.

An in-person registration will be held Thursday afternoon from 1 to 4 and again from 8 to 9:30 p.m. in the Princeton High School cafeteria. From previous students will be able to watch on the spot then if their first choice of class has been filled.

Present at the Thursday evening registration will be the adult school's board of trustees as well as the faculty. Those who wish to discuss tests, materials or placement with the instructors may meet with them at this time. Those planning to start any language class must speak with the class teacher to be sure of proper placement. This is essential because the language classes are not starting fresh with the January 28 session.

The first night of class is January 29. A full listing of all the courses being offered has been placed in TOWN TOPICS, and copies are available at its office, 4 Mercer Street. Co-Chairmen Anne B. Shepherd and Robert Staples urge all of those planning in carpool wherever possible because parking facilities at the high school are limited.

TRENTON YOUTH NABBED

Making Obscene Phone Call. A 14-year-old Trenton juvenile has been arrested by the Borough Police for allegedly making an obscene phone call to a Princeton girl.

The youth, a student at a junior high school, was released after his parents last week after being charged to await action by Trenton juvenile authorities. He had allegedly been making repeated calls to the same girl, police said.

His apprehension, however, was only one small exception in a tide of obscene calls that has been engulfing Princeton, according to Chief Peter H. McCrohan.

"We're getting so many — and there are no easy solutions," commented Chief McCrohan. "The only advice I can give," he said, "is to make a log of the number and time of the calls, attempt to get as much information as you can from the caller, and then notify the police and the telephone company."

The problem is not unique with Princeton. Chief McCrohan reported that conversations with other police officials reveal the problem — and it is a big one — is widespread throughout New Jersey and the nation.

"The Telephone Company is spending large sums trying to combat this," Chief McCrohan added. But to date, apprehension involves an expensive and time-consuming process.

TEACHERS SAY "YES"
To New Contract. Princeton's public school teachers have ratified the new salary agreement.

A school board spokesman said the board will ratify the agreement either this Thursday, when it will formally adopt the budget also, at an 8 p.m. meeting in John Witherspoon School, or next Tuesday at the regular January meeting of the board. The agreement was announced at the budget hearing Tuesday in the Princeton High School auditorium.

"This contract is outstanding," declared Mrs. Ruth Randall, president of the Princeton Regional Education Association, the teachers' bargaining agent.

"It is outstanding not only in its money aspects, but because it answers the needs of Princeton's teachers. It is unusually comprehensive."

Sample of its salary adjustments: a beginning teacher with a B.A., at the bottom of the scale, will now receive $7,500 instead of $6,630. The top of the B.A. scale will be $12,470, as opposed to $11,950. Mrs. Randall declined to give a percentage figure for salary increases, stating that the complexity of the scale makes percentages misleading.

The agreement adds up to a $383,000 increase in instructional salaries for 303 teachers, 10 librarians, 11 guidance counselors, four psychologists, two social workers, one audio visual specialist and 12 principals and assistant principals, board member Dr. Harvey Rothberg said.

Mrs. Randall said the increases are the largest in Princeton's history. They include 100% medical payments for the teacher and his family, as opposed to the 50% Princeton has been paying. ("We are pleased and proud of this agreement," said board member Harvey Rothberg.)

Mrs. Randall said the PREA asked for 35 agreements, apart from salaries, and got 35 — although not the same ones. In other New Jersey communities, she said, teachers got five or ten.

Among the non salary benefits:

Improved procedures for handling: grievances, complaints against teachers, student discipline, for announcing staff promotions; Clearer procedures for voluntary and involuntary transfers of teachers; clear cut teacher evaluation . . . extra-curricular duties on a voluntary basis only . . . guaranteed personal and academic freedom.

The question of class size is referred to an Instructional Council composed of persons appointed by teachers and administration.

Formal negotiations are new to Princeton. Dr. Rothberg explained, and are a result of a 1968 state law. Both board and PREA had professional negotiators.

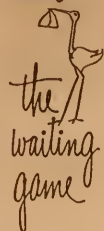

Meetings were held for 12 consecutive weeks, and Dr. Rothberg said there was "good faith and responsibility" on both sides. He praised the teachers for their "responsible and intelligent action."

Budget. Public hearing on the budget, relatively brief, centered around two lengthy comments from the audience. Mark Jones, 159 Library Place, said there should be no teacher salary increases in the budget because of inflation. He stated that inflation was not a concern only of — Continued on Next Page teachers, but of the whole community, and he charged that "indiscriminate" chicanery was involved in "using teachers to the disadvantage of the community. He also said the board had never actually proved that Princeton's teacher salaries were not competitive with other towns.

In reply, James Baker, a teacher at Princeton High, commented on the classic $10,000 house that is always used to clarify the tax picture for Princeton's taxpayers.

"Few teachers," he said drily, "could afford that $10,000 house."

The second speaker, Walton Butterworth, 30 Battle Road, expressed concern for people with fixed incomes "and not large fixed incomes, either. He said "I don't mean those who live in $10,000 houses."

He pleaded to applause from the 100 persons gathered in the auditorium for a search for some other way to raise money besides property taxes. He suggested a local income tax, but nobody applauded.

Mrs. George Freeman of the board, told him that many New Jersey communities are beginning to feel this way.

"Real estate taxes simply aren't enough, and something else must be done," she stated.

Board member William Z. Abrams said he sympathized with retired persons, but felt that the community had its first obligation to the kids and the kids are eating out of house and home!

Why More? To Township taxpayers who still can't believe that the $10,000 Township house will pay $29 more in taxes while its Borough counterpart pays only $11 more, chairman Winthrop Pike explained.

● The Tax-ship has 71% of the pupils, the Borough 28%, and the bulk of the budget is assigned on a pupil-enrollment basis.

● The Borough has more ratepayers per pupil than the Township.

● The Borough's rate was artificially high last year because the board had to equalize an error. In previous years, 100 children were assigned to the Township when they really belonged to the Borough. It cost the Borough money last year to make up for the mistake. That adjustment will be "washed out" from now on, Mr. Pike explained. In fact, if you average the increases out over a three-year period, they are almost identical in Borough and Township. 3-26

The school board has a surplus of $100,000, Mr. Pike announced. The board raised spending district tuition to the legal maximum, which amounts for about $100,000 of the money. The rest came from economies, projects dropped or pruned.

Mr. Pike said the board plans to use $17,000 to absorb part of Special Services salaries but when Title I money was cut back, the rest will be put in a reserve fund against a "serious catastrophe."

Asked how the board would invest the money meanwhile, William Evans, board secretary and wistfully he really didn't know the board had never had a surplus like that before.

SCHOOL LACE CONTINUES
"Wednesday" is Big Issue. The Princeton schools' Wednesday Program, launched just a year ago, continues to be an issue in the community and is probably THE issue in the school-board campaign, most candidates agree.

In the Borough, where four candidates are running for the

The snow is like
A diamond bright
That sparkles in the Glow of night.

Jewels are rare, but that winter, there's snow aplenty. The three or more inches which arrived Tuesday night added to the collection we've had ever since December 26.

Not unexpectedly, there's a lot of subnormal temperature to go with the snow. For instance in the first 15 days of the month, the thermometer never made it back to freezing.

More of the same is directly ahead. It should be clear through the weekend but precipitation for January is well below normal, and that seems sure to be corrected before the month is out.

Two available seats, two of the candidates support the program, one is critical and one doesn't regard Wednesday as a campaign issue.

Mrs. Robert Geddes and Dr. Henry J. Foxner are generally in support of Wednesday. Mrs. Geddes believes the program has already proved stimulating to teachers, parents and students, and she believes that genuine improvement in teaching and in course content can come from continuing the program.

Dr. Foxner believes the program increases teacher motivation which, in turn, will CONTINUE. A PAPER BAG: Children young and old, as the saying goes, are invited to present tickets this Saturday at McCarte Theatre for the Paper Bag Players, hailed as one of the most original and entertaining children's theatre companies for miles around. We don't know the name of the lady above, but abe's sure no big.

ACT IT OUT
Children Invited To Create.
Creative theatre for children, with a chance to improvise, to act out fantasies, to re-tell the story you love most, will be offered this spring by the combined sponsorship of McCarte Theatre and the Unitarian Church.

Children will meet once a week for an hour and a half in the new theatre at the Unitarian Church, Cherry Hill Road. The series will last 12 weeks and will begin Friday Saturday, February 13. Fee is $30, with a few scholarships.

The teacher leader will be Miss Sharon Bawn, of the Mc-Carte staff. She has had extensive experience in children's theatre, including teaching with the summer recreation program of the University of Texas, and the working with programs of the Childhood Educators' Association of America in Tyler, Texas.
Interested parents are invited to write Miss Bawn in care of McCarte. Priority will be given to Unitarian children, but several places remain for non-Unitarians.

Children will be divided into three groups: second grade, third-fourth grade, fifth-sixth grade. There will be no public performances. Miss Bawn emphasizes, and no "spectacular"

recital at the end of the 12 weeks.
Youngsters will make up their own stories and act them out, or perhaps act out well-loved stories they already know. It depends on the group, Miss Bawn says. There will be multi-media to experiment with, too, including music, painting, and projection.

Mrs. James H. Johnson is chairman of the Unitarian committee which is working with Arthur Lillygow, McCarte's executive director, and Miss Bawn.

CRUISE CLOTHES ARE IN
A Preview of Summer. One of the pleasures of this near-zero weather is to walk into Mayme Mead's at 194 Nassau (on the second floor) and look at the cruise things. It's a heartening sight.

Mayme Mead carries clothes from the dress houses specializing in the well-bred look — Davidow, Tanner of North Carolina, Vera Maxwell, among others. The lines are simple and the fabrics are beautiful. It is especially cheering to come in out of the snow and look at the garden prints by Tanner. Splashes of elegant color, sometimes combining kelly green and daffodil yellow in a simple sleeveless dress with a roll neckline and wide sash waist. Or a printed patchwork suit, a riot of small, bright patches over helix-sweater in a fly-front shirtwaist dress.

Davidow suits for cruise wear are classically simple, counting on your wearing printed tops or scarves that emphasize coordinating colors. In a heavy green linen, the color of the first haze of buds on the trees, a jacket and skirt with amusing semi-circle pockets.

And in pure white linen, a suit with excellent dressmaker details — slant pockets high up on the jacket, and repeated on the skirt at each side of the center front pleat. The brass buttons on the jacket are center front on the skirt, too.

There's also a sleeveless dress in white wool by Davidow, to be worn with a smashing coat of shrimp-colored wool in a loose, loose weave flecked with white. The coat has an interlaced touch of white wool. There are front pockets on the coat, and pearl buttons the size of silver dollars.

The cruise wear at Mayme Mead's includes some excellent knits such as the vague red and white plaid dress and jacket accented with navy braid and a narrow kid belt.

White is a coming thing, apparently, because we saw a pleasant scattering of white dresses and suits. Vera Maxwell's white dress in a rough-weave fabric has two peasant patch pockets in high color on the skirt. From House of Lords, exquisitely appliqued white satin rosebuds lightly scattered on a collarless white dress of Irish linen. Or, from Tanner, a white-topped dress, with a yellow skirt, and an accent of yellow at the mandarin collar.

It does seem that if we have any sense at all, we'll buy our summer things now, while there's a good choice.

CLAYTON'S ACCENTS

Wash 'N Wear. When you walk into Clayton's from Palmer Square, you'll run into the bathing suits, a most pleasant reminder that it's time to think of southern wear.

And right there with them are the Kay Windsor and Country Miss polyester double knits for travel — you wash them, hang them up and they're ready to wear when dry. All in marvelous colors and styles, right for the south now and at home here later on. There's a particularly fetching Kay Windsor dress in periwinkle blue, with a tiny puff weave to it, touched with three knotty buttons. ($28)

You'll like the McMullen "engineer" prints in Bermuda colors, which have a hand-painted look to them. The lines are simple with a slight flare to the skirt. All are pure cotton in a pique like weave and nicely lined. One that caught our fancy was a soft aqua, with a beautiful tracing of waterlilies rising from the hem to cover the entire dress.

Browsing further through the southern things at Clayton we found Country Juniors' (sizes 5 through 13) in lovely knits — such as horizontal stripes of orange and blue with an insert of yellow and white in a short, saucy dress with a wide, long sash. ($28) And beautiful Liberty lawn prints — simple and cool.

Also, a linen look dress from Shapely Classic in a creamy beige covered with small leaf

In 1963 he created his famous mime-drama "Men and Dreams," and, for several years thereafter, toured Europe with this show, finally appearing in a nine-week engagement in New York in 1966. He is Artist in Residence at the

Players Need Storage

Got a barn you'd like to lend?

Princeton Community Players needs a place — it doesn't have to be a barn — where costumes can be stored.

The barn that the Players have been using for about eight years is not available any longer, and the wardrobe mistress says she needs storage space — desperately — by summer.

For storage, costumes are hung on racks as though they were in a closet. Garments are clean, the Players emphasize. Because actors are always short on cash, the Players are asking for donated storage space, rather than a rental. Barn owners should call Sylvia Fontijn, 921-2763, or write to her at 168 Mountain Avenue, Princeton.

University of Illinois, while also touring the United States with his show — both as a solo and with his small company.

PUPPET SHOW SET

For Sunday Performance. A Classical Marionette Theatre production of "Oedipus the King" will be given free on Sunday at 3 in 101 McCormick Hall on the Princeton University campus. The unique show is part of the repertoire of Professor Peter Arnott, currently head of the Tufts University graduate program in Speech and Drama.

Professor Arnott first conceived the classical marionette idea while in London in 1946. Since then, he has built a repertoire as a solo puppeteer that includes Greek tragedy, medieval mystery plays, and the dramas of Marlowe and Racine. He has performed at universities throughout Great Britain, Canada and the United States, as well as on educational television.

This first Princeton performance is sponsored by the Princeton University English Department, and by the Humanities Series of the Woodrow Wilson National Fellowship.

"ALADDIN" IN CHINESE
For Children's Theatre. A musical fantasy based on the tale of Aladdin from the Arabian Nights will be the first offering of Rider Children's Theatre. The work will be directed by Eber, who directed the highly successful "The Children's Theatre."

The two performances
are scheduled for 10:30 and 2
P.M. on Friday, February 7, at the Rider Fine Arts Theatre.
Princeton will go to the show in the hope of the Rider Children's Club. Subsequently, the show will go on tour as a benefit for a number of its organization.

Mr. Eber's adaptation of the Aladdin story will include music and lyrics by him and Jean Borg. Several unusual wrinkles will stand out including a Chinese orchestra, live on stage, making the first time a Rider Children's production has had live music.

CHILDREN'S FILM SET
Starring Buddy Hackett. A new children's film, "Everything's Ducky," will be shown Saturday afternoon at 1:30 in the Maurice Hark School,
Clarkville Road in Princeton Junction.

The film stars Buddy Hackett, already a favorite of kindergarten for his starring role in "The Love Bug." Admission will be 50¢ at the door. The West Windsor IFA will present the film, with the special assistance of Mrs. Curtis Spal-dinger and Mrs. Joseph Kirschgessner.

PINTER AT BRECHT
"The Lover." Harold Pinter,
the long one-act called "The Lover," will be given at Brecht
West, the first-sized professional theatre in New Brunswick at 61 Albany Street.

"The Lover" will open next Wednesday, January 28, and will play again on Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights.
The following week, it will play
the same schedule starting Wednesday, February 4. Curtain time is 8:30.

On January 30, 31 and February 6, 7, additional performances will be given at 10:30. Reservations may be made by calling 201-828-2750.

"Pokey" Breaks Record

The Garden Theatre management is rubbing its hands in glee over Princeton response to the film,
"Pokey Snake."

It broke the house attendance record as it did so, and then broke Friday's record
on Saturday.
Previously "Thunderbolt" set the record high. Although in its time but in the previous week, Tom June.

The cast has three performers who play the "Oobieks." Readers of the classes will recall that Miss DeWitt did not bother with regular things that come from the sky like rain and snow and ordered his romance to come up with something new.

MODERN DANCE CLASSES
Offered For Spring Term.
Mrs. Langridge is accepting registrations for her spring term classes in modern dance.
Classes are available for beginning, intermediate and advanced students, aged high school through adult.

Mrs. Langridge is a graduate of the High School of Performing Arts, and has studied and performed extensively in modern dance. Classes will be given the first week in February.
Information is available at 921-3176.

PLAYHOUSE

"Oh! What A Lovely War" (now playing) is a brilliantly executed study of war's lunacy and futility.

The cast includes John Mills and a long line of "guest stars": Dirk Bogard, Jean-Pierre Cassel, John Gielgud, Jack Hawkins, Ralph Richardson, Laurence Olivier, Michael Redgrave, Vanessa Redgrave and all the rest of British film-dom.

It takes us back to World War I, with director Richard Attenborough concerned with its madness and terrible attrition. The satire skirts the role of the politicians in a few years and, except for the opening scenes where the family of European diplomats meet stately clothes in move with a ritualistic minut at Sarajevo, it confines itself to parodying
the follies and jockeyings of the big military brass — especially Sir Douglas Haig, British Commander in Chief on the western front.

The backbone of the film is the songs — about 50 of them,
all dating back to the era.
More than anything else, they reflect the false patriotism and jingoism, and also the esprit of the fighting men who rush gaily into the war game and come to realize that they are pawns.

It is a sort of cosmic music hall variety show. The perfection of the production, the taste, creativity and brilliance of detail, and the moments of superb acting make this a most impressive film.

benefit children. He points out that many teachers use the time to work directly with children, while others use the afternoon to increase their own teaching skills. He asks for evaluation at the end of the year.

Mrs. J. Stuart Hunter questions the Wednesday Program, and suggests that, while some children seem to benefit, others are left at loose ends. She is especially critical of collection of data for purposes of evaluation, including data on who actually attends Wednesday programs. She asks more school-sponsored activities for children.

Mrs. Albert Hinds does not regard the Program as a campaign issue. She says that much community criticism might have been avoided if the Program had been labeled from the start as an "in-service training program" for teachers. She does not feel that enough precise facts have been given to the public about the Program.

Ask More Facts. In both Borough and Township, candidates of every shade of opinion agree that the Wednesday Program's staff hasn't kept the public well-enough informed, especially about specifics.

In the Township, two of the three candidate running for the two-year spot, give the program qualified endorsement. The third candidate is fully opposed.

Burnett H. Sams says Wednesday afternoon is a specific opportunity for the staff to improve professionally and to devise better ways of working together for the improvement of education in Princeton. He points out that the program is an experiment, and asks that basic information on past and present projects be reported out, so that the community can make proper judgments on the Program's value.

Mrs. Loren Johnston, who has participated in the Program from the first, says it's the responsibility of the teacher to meet the needs of every single child in the classroom. This is manifestly impossible, but with the help of Wednesday, teachers can examine themselves, exchange experiences and ideas, and perhaps find a way to do something different so they reach just one more child they hadn't reached before.

Philip Cruickshank says he has serious reservations about the whole Program, especially lack of student participation. He says that, properly administered, the Program offers a chance to improve both teaching and curriculum, but he's not convinced that everyone in the Program is involved in meaningful projects.

The Townships' two candidates running for the single three-year seat, are divided. Daniel Mager says flatly that, in its present form the Program is not acceptable. However, at the November school board meeting, he said publicly he was "almost a convert." He explains that teacher enthusiasm that night "almost" converted him, but that he cooled down later. He says he is not against a program that would involve students in a compulsory and meaningful Program, not necessarily in the formal classroom, and he cites a Wednesday afternoon class in advanced mathematical logic as a "meaningful learning experience," he could accept.

Robert Rierman sees the initial results of the Wednesday Program as encouraging. He believes that many teachers have already found their thinking and outlook changed and opened by the Program. He believes teachers should be required to participate in such a way that the results of what they are doing will benefit the whole school in a practical manner. He also says the school system has an obligation to parents to provide active participation in the Wednesday Program for all children whose parents want them to be in school all day.

MORE PARKING!

23 Additional Spaces. The public library parking lot will have 25 more spaces, maybe this spring.

Mayor Robert Cavley announced this week that the Borough now formally owns the strip of former Public Service land right next to the library on the south end of the Public Service building. The Borough purchased the strip for $8,500.

It hasn't yet been decided what parking term will be allowed on the new meters, said Administrator Robert Monney. The entire lot may be restudied, he said.

TOWNSHIP SIGNS UP

For Sewer Plans. One of our more municipalities is needed before the Stony Brook Sewerage Group can start the state for money to draw up engineering plans for the proposed seven-community regional sewer.

Princeton Township, with a unanimous "yes" vote from Committee, became the third community on Monday night, Princeton Borough and Hope well Township have already passed the required resolution.

The fourth will probably be Hopewell Borough. The Hope well assent was expected Monday night, but action was deferred because only four of six Councilmen were present.

The remaining three members of the Group — West Windsor, South Brunswick and Pennington — are still discussing the recent engineers report.

Forward Step "This is a significant step forward," declared Township Mayor John D. Wallace after the vote. "It gets us in line for state aid. We must become involved in a facility such as this, we hope it will help solve our sewer problems."

The mayor explained that the Township's action doesn't actually create the Regional Sewerage Authority, and he added that work and negotiations still lie ahead.

Meanwhile, sewer problems in the Township seem to persist. Lorand Meray Hurvath, 47 Leathrock Lane, told Councilman the stench from the incinerator and sewer had been really bad since 1960. He painted out that burning plastics release hydrochloric acid which is harmful to breathe, and he charged that tires have been burned in the incinerator.

Administrator Joseph H. Niemi challenged this, and pointed to a yearly budget item of $900 for the removal of tires.

Outsiders. Mr. Meray Hurvath also charged that trucks come into the incinerator from outside the Princeton area loaded with industrial wastes.

which are then dumped on Princeton.

He said that, in his experience, the odors were worse at night and when the air was dead, with no wind.

Mayor Wallace admitted that operation of the plant has been a problem and he promised better supervision.

The new scrubber should just about eliminate the fly ash, "Committee Chairman Therman Hartmann assured Mr. Meray Hurvath. It may also eliminate many of the gases. Committee members agreed.

Optimism. Mr. Niemi said February 26 is the deadline for meeting the state health code, and he added that he was "optimistic" that new equipment, especially the scrubber, would bring the plant up to standard. Mayor Wallace said Borough and Township will pay $25,000 for new equipment to move the dirt and prevent the opening up of old areas. He also said the two communities had authorized a study of the dump to see whether efficiency could be improved.

Mr. Elmer Albert, Autumn Hill Road, who has frequently complained to Committee a mile flyash and odor problem, said he was "optimistic" that a considerable improvement in waste removal is expected.

NEW MERCER COUNTY COMMUNITY COLLEGE TRUSTEES: Mrs. Anna Clark Martindell of 132 Elm Road and Dr. Simon Marcson of 36 Marion Road take the oath of office from County Clerk William Foley at the MCCO Board of Trustees meeting. Dr. Marcson was chairman of the commission which studied the need for a community college in Mercer County. Mrs. Martindell is the vice-chairman of the Democratic State Committee.

There's a definite need for this here."

The gallery presents a most interesting background of the paintings, etchings and lithographs on its walls. The lighting is painstakingly arranged to place all emphasis on the art.

And, as you look around, you see two lithos from Dali's circus series and several sculptured whimsies by William Entschin, who's much in demand among the younger collectors.

Robert Natkin, currently represented in a one man show in a New York gallery, has sent several of his "Held Mouse" series to the gallery. Time magazine refers to his lyrical patterns in acrylics as "gingham checks."

"I'd love to have him come and meet people here," Mr. Snyder said to us. "This is one of the things we'd like to do with the gallery, introduce the artist in a cultural type thing, ask him to talk informally about his work. Natkin is very deep. He's excitable. He loves fresh colors, patterns, simplicity. He was very influenced by Paul Klee and Pierre Bonnard. He was exhibited at the San Francisco Museum last year."

It's New To Us continued From Page 7 silhouettes in subtle shades of brown and aqua ($14) There's a marvelous hand-screen silk print from House of Lords with an intricate series of white scrolls and paisley lines against a crimson background.

Clayton's also has the Serbin designs that are so wearable. All of Amel, there is among them the blue and white striped dress that's featured in Vogue magazine this month. The prints in the Serbins are very flattering to the full figure.

A new line at Clayton's comes from Robert Peters, and these dresses are most attractive. Polyester knits, again, that you can handwash at the hotel.

Especially worth perusing are the ensembles made by the Canadian house, Hanbury. All are in great colors for southern climates — the soft aquas, the flamingo reds — some are fabulous Swiss Jacquard weaves in cotton. The coat is the thing in these Hanbury ensembles. The dress underneath is a gentle complement. Most of the ensembles are cut with a wide-flaring A-line half-belted in the back.

There's a pale gold Hanbury in a geometric knit weave of diamonds with the coat sleeve gathered in a band at the wrist and slanted patch pockets. Two front pockets. The dress matches. ($90). Among the red and navy against white, a jacket and skirt with the Norfolk look. ($75).

The Hanburys are among the prettiest we've seen. Very special, very feminine.

ART GALLERY OPENS On Spring Street, Bucks County artist Barry Snyder and his wife Arline opened the Princeton Gallery of Fine Arts on Spring Street a week ago Sunday with a definite goal in mind: "We wanted to create the image of a true art gallery," Mr. Snyder explains. "One that shows works of art. No frames hanging on the wall — or gift items for sale. A true gallery. I feel that that six dresses and a belt valued at $250 were missing. Police report that all doors were locked and there was no sign of forced entry during the time the theft was believed to have occurred.

At 3:30 Friday afternoon, police received a call from Mrs. Richard F. K. Tobill, 118 Jefferson Road. Mrs. Tobill reported that earlier she had hung her black leather purse on the back of the door in the office of the English Department at Princeton High School. Someone entered the room and removed the purse. In it was her blue leather wallet containing a half dollar and a check for $750. The wallet has not been recovered, police said.

A foreman of a construction company erecting the computer center being built by Princeton University at the rear of 51 Prospect Avenue called police Monday to report that one of the construction shacks had been broken into over the weekend. Taken were articles of equipment valued at $190.

A $22 table radio and a $20 electric drill were reported stolen last week from the office of the Princeton Housing Project, 50 Clay Street.

Police said that a door on the west side of the building had been pried open to gain entry to the office. Sgt. Ralph Proccaccio investigated.

GOING TO COLLEGE?
PHS Plans Workshops. Two college admissions workshops for parents of juniors at Princeton High School have been scheduled for 8 p.m. Wednesday nights, January 28 and February 4 in the school cafeteria.

Both parents and juniors are invited to the January 28 meeting, at which George Petrillo, director of guidance at Princeton High School, will give an overall view of the search for a college. He will cover admissions tests, different types of colleges, visits to college, criteria for choosing a college and opportunities available to a PHS student when he gets out of high school.

A film, "College Perspectives" will be shown and the guidance department will distribute kits of material pertaining to college planning.

On February 4, parents will be asked to meet the guidance counselors informally in small groups.

RIDER FRACTURES LEG
When Bike Hits Pothole, A 34-year old man fractured his right leg Monday evening when the bicycle he was riding struck a pothole near the intersection of Vandewater Ave and Spring Street.

Thomas G. Spiro, 104 N. Stanworth Drive, was transported by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad to Princeton Hospital, where he was admitted. Ptl. Joseph Wilhelm responded to a 6 p.m. call that a man was injured from John O'Neil, a Borough meterman. Mr. Spiro told police that he was riding his bike when he hit a hole in the road, causing him to fall off.

Youth Hit by Car. Alexander L. Wert, 12, 6 Hodge Rd., was struck by a car at 5:15 p.m. Sunday, as he attempted to cross Nassau Street, 150 feet west of the crosswalk at Witherspoon Street.

He was taken by the driver, Rose Rappaport, 47, 13 Broadtriple Drive, to Princeton Hospital. He was released after being treated for abrasions and contusions of both knees and the left thigh.

Mrs. Rappaport told Sgt. Robert Anderson that the youth had come between two parked cars right in front of her. After being hit, she said, the youth fell down and jumped right up again. There were no charges.

The previous evening, Saturday at 11:25, a 29-year old pedestrian was struck at the same intersection.
Jeffrey A. Mints, 29, 14 E. Broad Street, Hopewell, was about one-third across Nassau Street when he was struck by a car and knocked five feet out from Witherspoon onto Nassau of the Witherspoon crosswalk, and never saw the pedestrian. He was taken to Princeton until he hit him.

Two drivers needed stitches at Princeton Hospital to close scalp lacerations following the collision of their cars last Wednesday afternoon at the intersection of Library Place and Cleveland Lane.

Stanley L. Jaki, 45, of the Stuart School, required two sutures, and Marvin B. Jacobson, 28, of Trenton needed four. Both were released.

traveling south on Liberty 15, continued through the intersection at Cleveland and struck the Jacobson car, pushing it into a pile of snow and partially into a hedge. Mr. Jaki had reported that the sun was shining at the time. Both cars had to be towed away.

In the Township, Pasquale J. Jr., 49, 25 Oakland Road, lost control of his station wagon Sunday evening when it skidded on the ice on a curve on 206 near Hillside Avenue.

After traveling 138 feet, his car played into a snowbank near Ben's Auto Body Shop, causing extensive damage to the car's frame and undercarriage. The front windshield also popped out.

Mr. Tarachuk complained of pains in the elbow and wrist but did not seek medical attention until he was taken to the hospital by the investigating officer, P.U. Michael Koplinier Jr.

PADDLE COURT, GYM

In Borough Court. Four Princeton residents were fined Monday in Borough traffic court by Judge Theodore T. Tami Jr. Richard Silvis, 256 John St., paid $30 for leaving the scene of an accident. Paying fines of $35 each were Daniel L. Mc

Jadwin Gym Will Be Open To Teen-agers

The Jadwin's Jadwin "Cage" will be open to Princeton's teen-age boys and girls, free, for basketball, track and tennis.

Opening day will probably be Saturday, January 31, but it may have to be postponed until Wednesday, February 4 because of University exam schedules.

Jadwin will be open for Princeton boys and girls, seventh through twelfth grade. Saturdays the gym will be open from 8 a.m. to 11 p.m. for basketball, 8 a.m. to 9:30 for tennis on the 10 indoor composition courts.

The schedule is set in conjunction with the Wednesday Program of the Princeton public schools, and the gym will be open Wednesday from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. for basketball and track. Three basketball courts, high and broad jump facilities, and the eight-light-to-mile track will be available.

Professional supervision will come from the Princeton Joint Recreation Board, which will have a number of undergraduates from the Undergraduate Assembly, The Association of Black Collegians and the Student Volunteer Council.

The idea came from the University's Committee on Human Relations, Jean Carl Fields, chairman.

When the arrangement was announced Monday night before Township Committee, Mayor John D. Wallace praised Dean Robert H. Goleben and said, "This is a tremendous addition to our recreation program."

"I am extremely pleased, and grateful to the University," stated Committee member James A. Floyd, who had conferred on the project at length with Dean Fields.

Borough Mayor Robert Cawley at his Tuesday press conference, added his thanks "It's a wonderful thing—the University is for it complemented, and also the recreation people who worked with them."

Janis, 19, Ellis Drive, Belle Mead, for careless driving and Blanchard W. Bates, 61, 10 College Road, for improper backing out of a private driveway into a roadway. Failure to have both his driver's license and car registration on his person on cost Douglas E. Bradley, 26, Cranbury Road, Princeton Junction, $10.

ARTIST TO APPEAR

For Talk, Film. A film, lecture and talk by Gregorio Prestopino will be featured at a special lecture demonstration by the Princeton Art Association, next Wednesday, January 28, at the Unitarian Church.

Mr. Prestopino, renowned sculptor and former art instructor for the Museum of Modern Art, will add his commentary to the visual presentation at 8:15.

The film "The Artist and the Work" won high acclaim from the American Academy in Rome. It shows the artist at work, some sources of his inspiration, and the way these may be translated into works of art in many media.

Mr. Prestopino, who has had 13 one-man shows in New York, received his training at the National Academy of Design, and has exhibited throughout the United States. In 1961 he received a prize grant from the National Institute of Arts and Letters, and has taught drawing and painting at the Brooklyn Museum Art School and The New School in New York.

The demonstration is open to the public as well as PAA members. The Unitarian Church is located at Cherry Hill Road and State Road, Princeton.

HIGHER RATES SET

For Water in Penns Neck. Penns Neck Water Co. has changed its rates for water service as soon as meters are installed and water mains leading to fire hydrants are in place. The Board of Public Utility Commissioners has announced that the public hearing held September 10, it was determined that the proposed rates would produce an operating income of 367. This amounted to a rate of return on investment equivalent to 5.4% which was held to be not unreasonable.

The public interest in the matter was represented by John S. Pierantoni of Trenton, who concurred that the new rates were necessary for the operation of the water company. The new rates will result in an average cost to both residential and business customers of $15 per year.

Monthly reports showing the progress of meter installations and main replacements must be filed by Penns Neck Water Co. to the Board so that it may determine the effective date of the new rates.

WOMEN'S TALK PLANNED

For YWCA. Dr. Frances Arthur, Princeton Gynecologist, will discuss "Women's Medical Concerns" at the third seminar in the YWCA "Women Important" series, Tuesday from 1:30 to 2:30. Dr. Arthur is a consultant to Personal Products, and a graduate of the University of Minnesota Medical School.

Nursery service will be a valuable at the meeting in the YWCA on Ashton Place. Two meetings in the seminar series in the near future will cover the legal rights of women, and women as consumers.

CANDIDATES' NIGHT SET

For West Windsor, Plainsboro. Nine candidates for membership on the school board of West Windsor-Plainsboro will appear next Wednesday, January 28, at 8 p.m., in the Dutch Neck School.

Each candidate has been asked to prepare an answer to the question: "The school board will be mainly concerned with building a new high school. What aspect of this process concerns you most?"

The meeting is jointly sponsored by the League of Women Voters and the PTA's of West Windsor and Plainsboro. The moderator will be Mrs. William Fairbanks of Rocky Hill, and refreshments have been arranged by Mrs. Monro Stambaugh.

POLLUTION DISCUSSED

It's Here, Now. Pictures of the hillyford Stony Brook Millstone watershed brought pollution home to the Princeton audience of students and townspeople that assembled Sunday afternoon in Alexander Hall for an exploration of "Pollution."

Thomas Sutherland, of the Stony Brook Millstone Watershed Association, showed the pictures, and explained how heedless bulldozing had affected the water table and the flood plain of which Princeton is the "heartland."

At Sunday's gathering, the speakers were Mary H. Berger of the Princeton University department of physics, The Society of "Friends of the Earth" and Mr. Sutherland. Henry S. Patterson, former mayor of the Borough, presided.

Mr. Source produced a "catastrophic" of "catastrophic proportions" within the next years — possibly world-wide famine — "If we make all the right decisions, we may have a chance," he stated.

The meeting was sponsored jointly by local chapters of the Vietnam War Veterans, the United World Federalists, Sierra Club, National Recreation Association plus the Princeton Parents' Association and the Open Space Commission.

NEW PHONE BOOKS DUE Delivery Starts Next Week. Telephone customers in Princeton will get a look next week at New Jersey's new phone book when they receive their 1978 telephone directories. The colorful company truck featured on the directory cover — blue and gold stripes on a white and gray background and the redesigned Bell System seal displayed on the back cover are part of a new corporate identification program being introduced gradually by New Jersey and its Bell System partners.

Some 32,400 copies of the new directory will be delivered to Princeton University and 1,700 copies more than in 1969. Alphabetical listings in the new edition are up 10% there are about 1,900 more than last year.

Zip code information, together with a postal zip code map for the multi-zoned Trenton post office area, is included again at the end of the Yellow Pages. Customers who want additional copies of the new directory directories. Continued On Page 33

Obituaries

Louis Fischer, 73, of 42 Stanworth Drive, died January 13 in Hackensack Hospital following a heart attack in the Bahamas, where he had been vacationing. He was an internationally recognized authority on the Soviet Union, India and world politics, and is noted foreign correspondent, writer and author.

Mrs. Fischer was a research associate and visiting lecturer at the Woodrow Wilson Institute of Public and International Affairs at Princeton University at the time of his death. A post had been held since 1961. He was the author of more than 20 books, including "The Life of Lenin," which won the 1961 National Book Award and had gone through more than a dozen printings in 16 languages.

His most recent book, "Istus Asia's Road from Peace to War," appeared last May, but was not published until after he died. He had finished about two-thirds of a sequel to this study of the Soviet policy in the Far East, "Russia and Roosevelt."

Among his other major works were his best-selling autobiography, "Men and Politics," "The Life of Mahatma Gandhi," which was reprinted as a definitive study of the Indian leader, and the two-volume "The Soviet Union in World Affairs," published in the 1920s, which has become a standard classic.

He was in Philadelphia, Pa., where he graduated from the Philadelphia School of Pedagogy in 1916. Mr. Fischer taught in the Philadelphia public schools for the next several years. He turned to writing in 1921 and wrote a series of articles from Berlin in the New York Post. He was a freelance writer and author of the "New York World," "The Baltimore Sun" and "The Nation." He spent some 14 years in the United Kingdom during the 1920s and 1930s, living in Moscow with his family.

For more than a quarter century, he covered assignments in Europe and Asia. In addition to his employment on Soviet and world politics, he specialized in U.S. foreign policy and during the 1930s was close to leaders of the Spanish Republic during that period. He was in London during the French civil war and was in France when World War II broke out. During the war years and afterward, he wrote many books and articles, including Roosevelt, Stalin and Churchill.

During World War II, he traveled throughout the world and was active as a lecturer and communicator. From 1941 to 1961 he was a member of the Institute for Advanced Study.

Surviving are his widow, Mrs. Markoska Fischer, of New York City; two sons, Louis and Robert, both professors of sociology at the City University of New York; and a daughter, Mrs. Victor Fischer, of New York City. A professor of political science at the University of Alaska, and five grand children.

A memorial service will be held at 3 p.m. this Friday in the rotunda of the Woodrow Wilson School.

Dr. William Feller, 63, of 139 Randon Road, died January 14 in New York City. He was professor of mathematics at Princeton University and winner of the 1963 National Medal of Science.

He concentrated his research in the field of probability and mathematical statistics. In 1943, he was among the first to point throughout the world who were singled out by the editors of "Who" for their scientific achievement in the scientific field.

Dr. Feller received his master's degree from Princeton in 1935, and his Ph.D. in 1936. In 1935 and his doctorate, summa cum laude, from the University of Göttingen, Germany. A year later, among his many published works, the two-volume "Probability Theory and Its Applications" was instrumental in establishing probability as a collection of subjects of wide fields of application. He was an honorary fellow of the Royal Society, the Royal Danish Society and a member of the National Academy of Sciences. He was a member of the International Institute of Statistics, the American Philosophical Society, the American Academy of Arts and Sciences and the Yugoslav Academy of Sciences. He was president of the Institute of Mathematical Statistics in 1949.

He is survived by his wife, Mrs. M. Feller. The funeral and interment were private.

Mrs. Estelle Brown, 90, formerly of Clay Street, died Jan. 14 in Princeton Hospital.

Born in Rocky Hill, Mrs. Brown was the daughter of the Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church and the Ladies Society of the church.

A nephew, Leroy Burnett, and a niece, Mrs. Sarah Lewis, survive. She was preceded in death by her husband, John, and several other nieces and nephews survive her.

The service was held in the Hughes Funeral Home, Trenton, the Rev. Harold A. Thomas, pastor of Witherspoon Street Presbyterian Church, officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery.

Garnet W. Brackelback, 68, of 214 Bowing Street, died Jan. 16 in Princeton Hospital. She was a probable heart seizure, according to doctors. He was stricken while shopping in the Princeton University Store.

He was a weighmaster for Kingston Trappack for 13 years and was associated with the Kingston Trappack Service for 19 years. He retired from ETS in 1967 and for the past year was a member of the Princeton University Store.

Surviving are his wife, Mrs. Z. Brackelback, his daughter, Mrs. Nathaniel Morgan of Morrisville and Mrs. Donald Green of Beloit, Wis. He was preceded in death by his son, Gordon Stephens of British Columbia.

The service was held at the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. Michael Munt of Princeton Assembly of God officiating. Interment was in Princeton Cemetery. Memorial aids may be made to Princeton Hospital.

Mrs. Susan G. Wintman, 54, of 251 1/2 Street, died Jan. 14 in Princeton Hospital. She was the wife of Dr. George Wintman, of Princeton University.

She was a native of Rochester, N.Y., and was a member of the University of Rochester and a past president of its alumni association. She was a volunteer for the Blind and a member of the Princeton Art Association.

Another, Dr. Alan M. Glover, vice president of RCA, died Jan. 14. He also survives her.

The funeral arrangements for Mrs. Wintman will be held at 3 p.m. this Friday in the rotunda of the Woodrow Wilson School.

Dr. William Feller, 63, of 139 Randon Road, died January 14 in New York City. He was professor of mathematics at Princeton University and winner of the 1963 National Medal of Science.

PREFERS SALES TAX TO INCOME TAX: Commenting on the proposed increase in the sales tax to five percent, liquor store owner Jimmy Ajamian reports he would favor the increase over a state income tax "because he would also be getting people who shop in New Jersey." (Staff Photo)

Question Of The Week

Question: What has been of view, I would prefer an increase in the sales tax because I do a lot of my shopping out of state; whereas in a state income tax, you don't have any choice.

Where asked: Nassau Street

Jimmy Ajamian, Skillman owner of Towne Wine & Liquor, Route 206. I think that a sales tax increase like this would be the best way for the state to raise the money. It would also be getting people who live in the state would be obliged to contribute.

Louis Linperakis, 23 Pine Street, host for Kings Court Restaurant. From three to five percent, I think I'm with it because everybody has a sales tax is cash and carry. You take it and no "bait" or "bait" — everybody pays. It's not like a state income tax where there would be long.

Monie Telave, 303 Livingston Street, housewife. I suppose an income tax would be fairer but what's two cents more if you're going to buy something. It doesn't make that much difference.

Robert Cunningham, graduate student, Woodrow Wilson School. It's a very interesting plan. It's a very progressive and hard on the ordinary taxpayer. It's like for a state like New Jersey with all its urban problems to turn to a state income tax. It's one of the few in the country now that doesn't have one. I think New Jersey has to recognize its responsibility to pay according to some formula which reflects a person's ability to pay.

Jessie Dennis, Trenton. It bothers me but I can't do anything about it. It's going to happen. I can't be too unhappy about it because everybody voted for him. I wouldn't want to see a state income tax. I'd rather have a federal income tax, yes, we have to have that, but not a state income tax.

Broad Street, Howell. I'm afraid of how high it might go. They say if we don't increase the sales tax or have a state income tax they will have to cut down state aid to education, and I wouldn't want to see that. I guess we'll just have to learn to put up with it.

More Calamished Business.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
 The letter in your January 8 edition by Mr. Kishen regarding the expatriation actions of Suburban Transit Company drivers struck a familiar note. After a similar incident last summer I wrote a letter of complaint to the company and received an apologetic reply signed by Ronald Kohn, Operating Manager, admitting the facts and continuing: "The only reason the operator could give for not completing his scheduled trips was that he was running late. This, of course, is not a valid excuse. You have my assurance that proper disciplinary action has been taken against this operator and that any recurrence of this incident is highly improbable."

Now I wonder

Wrong Site for Post Office.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
 Enclosed is a copy of a letter I have just sent to our Senators Case and Williams, and our Representative Thompson, in which you'll find a print it so that it may remind others to write them too.

The people of Princeton need your help.

There is no doubt that the present physical facilities for postal operations in Princeton are increasingly inadequate. Therefore new facilities are obviously needed, and principally for the bulk users of the post office: the educational institutions, the research organizations, and the industrial and commercial clients. Indeed, it is primarily these large organizations — many of whom are not actually located in Princeton, but with a Princeton address and postmark — which have created the situation now crying for correction.

For some years the Post Office Department and its in Princeton, encouraged by a local real estate developer, have tried to obtain the right to build a post office on North Harrison Street in Princeton Township, a bit north of the north boundary of Princeton Borough.

Except for a past aberration which permitted a hideous shopping center to be built there, this is an area of modest homes — homes often built at very considerable family sacrifice by persons in the lower economic ranks of this community. The threat of a heavy trucking bulk mailing and sorting operation has been successfully fought for two or three years by the local residents and others in this community who see such a major encroachment as destructive of the general nature of the neighborhood and a totally unwarranted heavy use of residential-type roads.

Undaunted by the refusal of the Princeton Township Board of Adjustment to allow a zoning variance, the local developer and the Post Office Department entered into a strange relationship through which the land was leased to the Federal government so that it is now the Federal government who will seek a variance — rather than the local bulk-letter user who has already been turned down. This arrangement so far, upheld by the court, is now being appealed by the Township to the N.J. Supreme Court.

In advance of the legal solution, we ask for your help in convincing the Post Office of the error of its proposal. Aside from this unwise plan to destroy a neighborhood, and this technical subterfuge to circumvent local desires and the operation of local ordinance, the proposed location for this postal operation makes absolutely no sense from the point of view of efficiency.

"An operation of the sort needed and proposed should be near major highways, and if possible, near a major railroad line. In addition, this location should be readily accessible to the various heaviest users of it. Such a location is not North Harrison Street, already overcrowded with housewives shopping and mothers delivering and collecting children from nearby school. Such a location is not North Harrison Street, separated as this from many of its major potential users by either the very narrow and dangerous Harrison Street bridge across Lake Carnegie or by the already overused Princeton Borough Street (Prospect or Nassau).

The obvious location for a postal operation of the sort needed is somewhere in the NW corner of Penna Neck Circle, U.S. Highway No. 1, County Highway 91 cross there. Such a location is also close to the mainline of the Penn-Central Railroad at Princeton Junction. Much of the land in that general area is already zoned for commercial use, and the signs indicate that much of it is for sale.

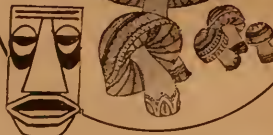

Further, RCA, American Cyanamid, and a host of smaller research and light industry organizations abound in that general area along U.S. 1 and on County 27. It would be no more difficult for Princeton University or Princeton Theological Seminary or the Institute for Advanced Study to use such a post office as it would be for them to use one on North Harrison Street.

We need your help to stop this outrageous plan for creating an inefficient monster in our midst!

School Figures Questioned.
To the Editor of Town Topics:
According to press reports, the Princeton Regional School budget for the next year proposes an increase of $783,500 over the preceding year. Salaries increase are said to account for 82.3 percent of the increase.
Such a proposal raises the question of who the schools are for, anyway. Are they just for the benefit of the teachers? Are they supposed to do something for the community? Just what are the results of public school education today in terms of the community and those footing the bill?

Nothing is said about the ability to pay of taxpayers. Will their incomes increase 20, or 30, or 40 percent in 1970-71? According to statistics, they will be lucky if the personal income of residents of New Jersey increases on an average of 3 percent. Why should one class, known as teachers, be privileged so disproportionately?
If government expenditures — and of these, two-thirds on the average represent the cost of public school education — are the principal factor in the inflation now raging through out the land, why do school people ignore such facts? They are supposed to be educated; therefore, to respect knowledge. Instead, they act like the other economic illiterates, ignoring the very knowledge that is being their reason for being.
The Board of Education just puts out bookkeeping figures. They say nothing about their meaning. In particular do they mean what they are proposing in comparison with the ability to pay of the residents. The propaganda has aimed to make schools a sacred cow and to create the fantasy that everybody living in Princeton is rich. They ought to look into the facts.
It is time for an accounting. Just what is the community getting for what it is paying? Do school people know how to make such an accounting? Do the education lobbyists of New

Carrington Assists Postol Agency's Youth Plan

The United States Post Office has announced plans to open "store front academies" in six major cities to train deprived youngsters. The Rev. G. Rogers Carrington of 24 Blatam Lane, founder and former director of Youth Associates, Princeton, will head the research and development program.
According to the Rev. Mr. Carrington, the street academies are an outgrowth of the Youth Associates street workers schools in Trenton and the Newark and Harlem street schools. The Post Office will open its program in May in Newark, Detroit, Washington, Atlanta, Chicago and San Francisco. If successful, it will be expanded to other cities.
Key to the Post Office program, the Rev. Mr. Carrington says, is the training of great numbers of black employees in the post offices to serve as counselor-teachers to the academy trainees, the majority of whom are black. Street workers recruited from the ranks of the post offices, who live and work in ghetto areas, will recruit school dropouts between the ages 16 and 21. The youth will be evaluated after their first 30 days at the school, and if qualified, will be given part-time jobs in the post office paying around $2.62 per hour.
Transition schools will be set up to help "underemployed" postal workers move into higher categories and to provide high school dropouts with high school equivalency certificates.
The Rev. Mr. Carrington, who was a member of the team that prepared the program for Postmaster General Bount, has among his assistants Miss Trika Smith, daughter of Albright C. Smith of Hodge Road, Kenneth Wooden, head of the Institute of Applied Politics, 221 Nassau Street, and Rev. Burt Chamberlain, is in charge of the Post Office's leadership training program.

G. Rogers Carrington

Research and development being undertaken ranges from exploring new educational techniques to ways of training urban leaders. The 1970 budget for the entire program is $1,161,746, with 10 percent coming from the Post Office Department and the remainder supplied by the Department of Labor and the Office of Economic Opportunity.

Jersey at Trenton know how to make one? Obviously, they don't. Moreover, they don't want, because they know they could not stand the results if one were made.
According to local gossip, certain members of the School Board are trying to make people believe that the average pay of teachers should be increased from $6,300 to $8,600, or thereabouts. A 36.5 percent increase for school teachers is ridiculous when it has to be paid by people who on the average cannot have an increase of more than 6 to 10 percent in their income under this crazy inflation caused by political spenders.
According to the United Press International, the State of New Jersey is second in the amount it is spending per pupil on public school education. It recently reported the average to be $627 per pupil per year. No other state except New York is paying as much.
We should remember that in addition to the hysterical spending on public school education, we have a similar madness at Trenton. The new regime announces that it has already fallen into the trap set for them by the outgoing political hacks. Of course, they are not asking for a mere $783,500 more. Only $300,000,000 more!

If knowledge is the stock in trade of public school education, when are those running education going to begin to use it?

Consumer Bureau Adopts New Guidelines

More compliance with the law does not qualify retailers and contractors for Consumer Bureau Registration, according to a set of guidelines adopted by Consumer Bureau's new Business Standards Committee at its first meeting held last week at the Bureau's Princeton headquarters.

Under these guidelines and regardless of any legal obligations involved, all goods and services sold by retailers and contractors to consumers will normally be covered by an implied warranty of reasonably satisfactory performance, according to Joseph M. Heyd, President of the Bureau, a local non-profit consumer organization.

Exceptions to this rule, according to Mr. Heyd, include transactions in which consumers are made aware at the time of purchase of specific limitations of retailers' or contractors' responsibilities, and also repair services performed by business people on machinery or equipment which they did not or finally sell and for which they have no current responsibility.

"Nobody expects professional people to be infallible diagnosticians," noted Mr. Heyd, and we feel that we can't in all fairness expect repair people to be infallible diagnosticians either. However, we do expect retailers and contractors

Guidelines adopted by the Princeton Business Standards Committee will be used, according to Boyd, by the Bureau's Mediation Committee in deciding whether individual consumer complaints received by the Bureau are or are not justified by Bureau standards in order to be eligible for Consumer Bureau Registration.

Business firms must satisfy all consumer complaints found by the Bureau's Mediation Committee to be justified.

Full text of the guidelines adopted by the Bureau's Business Standards Committee are as follows:

1) Mere compliance with the law in resolving consumer complaints does not automatically qualify retailers and contractors for Consumer Bureau Registration. Consumer Bureau must, however, give due consideration to fair-minded legal precedents in formulating standards of recommended business conduct, especially with regard to retailers' and contractors' liability to consumers for secondary or consequential damages.

2) In the absence of a contrary understanding at time of sale, consumers are entitled to expect that goods and services purchased for a stated purpose will fulfill that purpose, except that:

3) In the absence of a prior warranty obligation, no business person or firm is expected to make infallibly reliable diagnoses of equipment failure or malfunction;

4) Every consumer is entitled on request to a fully detailed statement of charges arising out of any transaction;

5) Retailers and contractors bear the burden of proof that goods and services supplied to any consumer were in fact ordered by the consumer;

6) Expiration of express or implied warranties does not relieve retailers or contractors of their obligation to satisfy complaints received by them while the warranties were in effect.

These guidelines, which will be supplemented at future meetings of Consumer Bureau's Business Standards Committee, are an outgrowth of Consumer Bureau's experience in handling more than 500 consumer complaints since the Bureau commenced operations in the Fall of 1967.

Members of the Consumer Bureau Business Standards Committee in attendance at the meeting were, in addition to Boyd, Mrs. Frank Barto, 144 Hamilton Ave., Mrs. William P. Burgess, Elm Ridge Road, and Frank G. Fahne, 100 Parber Road.

Consumer Bureau, a non-profit corporation, was organized in January, 1967 for the purpose of giving residents of Princeton and vicinity especially newcomers—the benefit of their neighbors' favorable experience with local business people.

Consumer Bureau's service to consumers which includes handling consumer complaints about local business people, is free of charge, nor any business person or firm is required to pay a fee of any kind in order to get on or stay on Consumer Bureau's complete unpublished Register of recommended business people.

The Bureau's income is derived from Consumer Bureau registered business people who wish to advertise the fact that they are registered and pay the Bureau a fee for that extra privilege.

PEOPLE In The News

Yung Shen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex Shen of Moonmouth Junction, is a December graduate of Saint Mary's College in Leavenworth, Kansas. Miss Shen completed a double major in mathematics and art, and she plans to begin work toward her master's degree this spring at St. Francis College in Fort Wayne, Indiana.

Army SP4 Walter P. Mazur, son of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Mazur of Cherry Hill Road, has received the Bronze Star for meritorious service in action against hostile forces near Da Nang, Vietnam. He is assigned as a generator mechanic in Company B, First Medical Battalion, First Infantry Division. The 23-year-old soldier entered the Army in September 1968 and has been in Vietnam since February 1969. He is a 1964 graduate of Princeton High School, and his wife Judy lives on Vetterlein Avenue, Trenton.

Army Private Brian A. Woodford, 20, son of Mrs. Ruth N. Woodford of Old Schoolhouse

Lane and Franklin L. Woodford, 69 Leigh Avenue, has graduated from the ammunition records course of the U.S. Army Missile and Munitions School at Redstone Arsenal, Alabama. The two-month course dealt with stock record techniques for ammunition, including guided missiles and nuclear weapons.

Dr. Leland G. Merrill, Jr., of Gluck Road, has received a joint citation from the New Jersey Horticultural Society and the New Jersey Vegetable Growers Association, for his work as dean of the Rutgers College of Agriculture and Environmental Science.

The first joint award by the two groups, the citation was for "significant contributions to the agricultural community," and for an "awareness of the broad role of agriculture reflected in the excellent teaching, research and extension programs of the university."

Dr. Louise M. Rosenblatt, 11 Cleveland Lane has been named Distinguished Lecturer for 990 to the National Council of Teachers of English. Currently Professor of English Education at New York University, she will lecture during the coming year at various colleges in the United States and Canada. Dr. Rosenblatt is the wife of Professor Sidney Ratner of Rutgers University.

Fraser M. Lyle has been named an assistant vice-president at the Investment Management Division of Anchor Corporation.

A graduate of the Wharton School of Finance and Wesleyan University, Mr. Lyle has been with Anchor Corporation since 1967. He worked previously as a security analyst for the Bank of New York. He lives with his wife Valerie and their two children on Surry Drive, Belle Mead.

Four area students were among 160 winter graduates of the College Sunday afternoon. Patricia Forman, daughter of Arnold Forman of Phillips Avenue, Lawrence, received a B.S. in Business Administration. Howard Ramberger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Ramberger, Mt. Lucas Road, received a B.S. in Finance.

Barry Thompson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Thompson, Calver Road, received a B.A. in Sociology, while Patricia Wood, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Wood of Jefferson Road took her B.A. in French.

Professor Richard H. Ullman, 11 Maclean Circle, has been awarded the George Louis Beer prize of the American Historical Association for his 1968 book, "Britain and the Russian Civil War," published by the Princeton University Press.

The book is intended as the second part of a three-volume study of Anglo-Soviet relations between 1917 and 1921. The first volume, published in 1961, was entitled "Intervention and The War." The Beer prize is awarded annually to a young scholar (first or second book in English) writing on European international history since 1895.

Mr. Ullman is an associate dean and director of the Woodrow Wilson School graduate program. He has been a member of the Princeton faculty since 1963.

NASA AWARD: Thomas R. Lanahan, 252 Stockton Street, has received the "Silver Snoopy award" from the Manned Flight Awareness Program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Mr. Lanahan is technical director of the Industrial Division of S. Blekman, Inc., Weehawken, a fabricator of stainless steel containment equipment. The firm manufactured all the containment cabinets at the Lunar Receiving Lab in which moon rocks are being studied.

Gerald E. Zich of Lawrenceville will be honored Thursday, January 29 for distinguished service to the New Jersey Poultry Industry; he will receive a citation and Golden Egg Trophy at the annual state Farmers' Week dinner at the Nassau Inn.

Serving as executive secretary to the New Jersey Secretary of Agriculture since 1967, Mr. Zich has been on the state's staff since 1941. He began his career as supervisor of poultry products marketing, later becoming chief of the Bureau of Poultry Service.

Between 1950 and 1958 he was an assistant director of the Division of Markets, subsequently being placed in charge of all promotional programs for New Jersey farm products, including eggs and poultry.

Before joining the state staff, Mr. Zich worked as a reporter for the Burlington County Democrat, as an editor of the Delaware Valley News at Frenchtown, as assistant extension editor at Rutgers and as publicity director for the American Jersey Cattle Club.

He is the author of "Fertile Furrow — 50 Years Long," a 40-page history of the State Department of Agriculture which was published on the agency's golden anniversary in 1966.

Army SP/4 James P. Layton II received the Army Commendation Medal and was promoted to his present rank while serving with the 25th Infantry Division near Cu Chi, Vietnam. He earned the award for meritorious service as a fire direction control computer.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Layton of Prospect Avenue, he received his B.A. degree at Yale University in 1967. He entered the Army in April 1968 and has been overseas since May, 1969.

Dr. Richard D. Challenger, a specialist in American diplomatic and military history, has been named chairman of the Department of History at Princeton University. He succeeds Lawrence Stone, Dodge Professor of History who headed the department for the past two years.

Professor Challenger is a member of the Princeton class of 1944, and received his master's and doctorate at Columbia. He has served in the past as an assistant Dean and Associate Dean of the University, in addition to his teaching duties.

Professor Challenger played a major role in compiling materials for the University's John Foster Dulles Oral History Project, which was finished last year. The result is a substantial collection of the papers of the former Secretary of State, and 300 taped interviews with world and national leaders. Professor Challenger is currently at work on a book about Mr. Dulles, a 1906 Princeton graduate.

MUSIC In Princeton

FESTIVAL WINDS HEARD

As Concert Season Resumes, Wind music at its very finest was the featured fare for Series II concert goes on Monday night at McCosh Hall as the season resumed after a month-and-a-half long holiday recess.

Nine distinguished musicians, make up the Festival Winds ensemble, whose members are John Solom, Flute; Melvin Kaplan and Ronald Roseman, Oboe; Charles Russo and Allen Blustine, clarinet; Morris Goodman and Lester Gardner, bassoons; and Ralph French and Albert Richmond, French horns.

The program, which was both varied and interesting, included the concert in Eb Major for Two Clarinets, Two Bassoons and Two Horns, Op. 71 by Beethoven; the "Pelle Symphonie" for flute, two oboes, two clarinets, two bassoons and two horns by Gounod; "Two Arias" for two oboes, bassoon and two horns by Handel; the "Woods and Quins" composed in 1948 by the contemporary American composer, Elliott Carter; the "Serenade in Eb Major" for Wind Octet (no flute), K. 378 by Mozart; Music for Piano and Wind Octet, which was thus represented, and what delightful music this was!

Perhaps the two most rewarding offerings of the evening arrived with the playing of the Gounod "Pelle Symphonie" in the first half of the program and the brilliant and joyful Quintet by Elliott Carter. One must begin to take a new look at the lesser French musicians of the middle 19th century. They evolved a personal style, not influenced by German music of the period, and (as in this Gounod piece) displayed a preference for the old treatment of harmonic progression, not found in German music at this time.

The Gounod composition was performed with a clarity and balance of execution that was refreshing. The players, however, did not share the same stylistic or tonal approach to the performance of their instruments, and while this might be frustrating for purposes of contrast, it was not always the most compatible musical arrangement. This was most obvious when the two oboists were playing together. Mr. Kaplan (who played first oboe throughout the evening) produced a very "light" thin tone, while Mr. Roseman's more robust tonal quality.

Similarly, the two clarinets shared this same difficulty, common to the oboists. Mr. Blustine produced a warmer sound than did Mr. Russo on first clarinet. Nor did the difference in temperament between the players have that much to do with their style of tone production. Mr. Russo's tone was smaller and less rounded than that produced by Mr. Blustine, and the sound which emanated from the latter's instrument seemed far more satisfying to this listener at last.

Master Musicians. From a musicianship standpoint, all members of this wind ensemble were masters of their craft. Perhaps this was attested by the performance of Mr. Carter's exacting score. Though the "Quins" must now be regarded as an "early" work, it already shows the rhythmic ingenuity of Carter's fertile and free imagination.

The polychromatic nature of the second movement, marked Allegro giocoso, requires the most precise execution and at times if it is to come off successfully, while the repeated movement, Allegretto, requires more gentle phrasing, typical of the style of presentation. The members of the quintet gave an extremely articulate account of the work which must be regarded as one of the finer examples of this medium of expression.

The lovely Mozart Serenade which concluded the concert program brought together all the members of the ensemble except Mr. Solom, the flutist. It's a bit of a pity Mozart decided on pairs of reed instruments with horns, overlooking the possibilities in the instrument because Mr. Solom's smooth, airy tone was one of the exquisite highlights of the evening. The five movement Serenade, with its two minuets, provided a proper balance to a program that was generally enjoyable from beginning to end. It would be nice to look forward to at least one large chamber ensemble of this kind each year. — Arno Saffran

ORCHESTRA HERE MONDAY

In Concert Series I, Series II of the Princeton University Concerts will present the Pittsburgh Symphony Orchestra under the direction of William Steinberg, Monday at 8:30 p.m. in McCarter Theatre.

Hailed from coast to coast and in Mexico and 14 European and Middle Eastern countries which it toured in 1964, the Pittsburgh Symphony will play the concert here as part of its extensive season. The orchestra rose to national prominence under the direction of the late Fritz Reiner during the 1930's and since 1952 under the musical supervision of Dr. Steinberg, it has achieved world recognition.

The Pittsburgh Symphony includes 101 musicians and have been described as constituting one of the six great orchestras of the United States. German-born, co-founded in 1936 of the Palestine Symphony Orchestra (now the Israel Philharmonic), William Steinberg was brought to the United States by the late Arturo Toscanini in 1938 to assist in the creation and training of the NBC Symphony Orchestra. Famous for his operatic as well as his symphonic work in Germany, Dr. Steinberg was soon a regular conductor of the San Francisco Opera and guest of many of the major symphonies before his appointment in 1957 as music director of the Buffalo Philharmonic Orchestra. The program in Princeton will include "Don Juan, Tone Poem after Lenau, Opus 20" by Richard Strauss; "Rapsodie Espagnole" by Ravel and "Symphony No. 1 in

Christopher Sanborn

D Major." Tickets are now available at McCarter.

PIANIST, 16, FEATURED In Trenton Symphony Program, Chris Sanborn, 16-year-old senior at Princeton High School, will make his concert debut Sunday, February 6, with the Greater Trenton Symphony Orchestra.

Chosen from among the winners of the Mary Simon Gindhart piano competition, Mr. Sanborn will perform in the first piano concerto No. 1, a new work in the piano repertoire and one which has not been performed in Trenton before.

Mr. Sanborn comes from a musical family; his father, George Sanborn is a faculty member at Westminster College, and his mother teaches music both at the Stuart Country Day School and at the new School for Music Study in Princeton.

According to conductor William Smith of the Greater Trenton Symphony, he is a remarkable discovery and may well be an outstanding career at the piano.

His musical experience so far includes accompanying choral and dance groups, musicals, and two concerto appearances with the Princeton High School orchestra. He is the first Gindhart competition winner to perform in an adult concert of the Greater Trenton Symphony.

The program will also include the popular Beethoven Concerto No. 5, the Italian Symphony of Mendelssohn, and Beethoven's Polovozes and Dances. Tickets are on sale at the symphony office in the Trenton Trust Building, the Princeton University Store and at Westminster Choir College.

BENNY CARTER LIVE In Campus Performance, Benny Carter, one of the most respected of all jazz composers and soloists, will give a free concert Tuesday, February 5, at 8:30 in Alexander Hall on the Princeton University campus. He will be accompanied by the trio of drummer Jo Jones, bassist Ron Carter, and pianist Roland Hanna.

Benny Carter is widely regarded as a composer and arranger for films, which he has done in recent years. But his jazz career helped him to the basis for swing music in the 30's and 40's, and his reputation as a sax soloist is a continuing part of jazz history. The concert next week will follow two seminars at the University dealing with film music and the future of jazz, which he will lead.

The free concert is arranged by the Afro-American studies program, Creative Arts program, the Undergraduate Assembly and the Friends of Music in Princeton.

ANDRE WATTS COMING "Bersa Pianista." One critic said that Andre Watts was "born to play the piano" and Princeton audiences may judge that judgment when the young virtuoso comes to McCarter on Tuesday, February 17 at 8:30 as part of the Music at McCarter series.

Orchestra seats only remain for Mr. Watts' appearance and may be purchased now at the McCarter box office.

It was only five years ago that Mr. Watts, then an unknown teenager of 16, played with the New York Philharmonic and Leonard Bernstein as a substitute soloist. Harold Schonberg for the New York Times, said that the young pianist "is a legend before he has grown up; clearly, he was born to play the piano."

CONCERT TUESDAY

At Princeton High School. The chamber groups of the Instrumental Music Department at Princeton High School will give their third annual concert Tuesday at 7:30 p.m. As before, it will be held informally in the Music Room.

Featured on this program will be a Beethoven Quintet. —Continued On Page 32

No Chance of 10th Football Game in 1970

When the NCAA announced last week that colleges may now schedule 11 football games a season, there was immediate speculation that the one-game increase might result in the Ivy League going to 10.

Hopefully — from the Princeton viewpoint — it will come about, but under no circumstances by next fall. There is currently a lack of agreement on the proposition among the eight members, and no indication as to when they may all support such a move.

R. Kenneth Fairman, now in his fourth decade as Princeton's director of athletics, said this week that he had proposed a ten-game schedule for Ivy teams prior to the NCAA's decision that 11 would be acceptable for its members. The story is the same here as it is across the land — constantly mounting expenses should be offset by increased revenues to keep athletic budgets from running deeper and deeper into the red.

Under the ten-game policy, Ivy League teams have for the past 20 years played nine games and held a pre-season scrimmage. The latter is considered essential in preparing teams for early-season action — particularly in view of the long-standing ban on spring practice — but it costs money, and there is no income at all.

R. Kenneth Fairman

Stanford? Army? Navy? A tenth game appears the logical answer. In Princeton's case, it would sell anywhere from 20,000 tickets to Palmer Stadium's capacity of 46,000 — depending on the novelty of the opponent. Stanford — once mentioned as the logical choice if Princeton began a West Coast rivalry — would very probably fit into the latter category. Army and Navy, traditional foes of pre and post World War II days, would draw upwards of 30,000.

But the Ivy League is by no means unanimously in favor of such a move, and the President's Agreement bars individual members from booking ten opponents until it is so amended. The divergence of opinion splits evenly — four in favor, four against — and the determining factor in each case is logically enough the academic calendar.

If a tenth game is scheduled, reason dictates that it be in mid-September — not in late November, when wintry weather and winter sports schedules infringe on gridiron activity. But it is not wholly reasonable, say Columbia, Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale, to play a football game before the student body has returned to the campus, and the academic calendar at those four Ivy League members would make that the case if they booked a tenth opponent. Penn, which begins classes right after Labor Day, and Brown, Cornell and Princeton, which start as early as September 15 in some years, favor the move to ten games. The Tigers, confronted by a Rutgers team which not only has spring practice but has itself played a regulation game before it comes to Palmer Stadium, would benefit as much as any member of the league.

Two Scrimmages Possible. Will the league agree to two pre-season scrimmages, plus one game, now that the NCAA approves? Fairman is not sure at this point, but there the question of additional red ink is a deterrent.

The tenth game will be given further consideration in the weeks to come, but it is not in the picture for 1970. One restriction has been lifted — seniors who have completed their football careers may again take part in certain post-season all-star games, such as the East-West and North-South affairs during the holidays.

Removal of the ban on such participation is the first major change in Ivy League thinking on intercollegiate athletics in 15 years. At present, however, the likelihood of a tenth football game remains highly questionable, even though college budgets in every department are fighting a losing battle again st deficit financing.

EXAM BREAK TO END
Tigers in Action Saturday. Princeton winter sports teams will return to action Saturday, following a ten-day break for term-end examinations.

Here in Princeton, a triangular track meet will begin at 12:30 in Jadwin cage, involving the Tigers with Fordham and Seton Hall. A squash match against Williams is also set for Jadwin at 2, while in Baker Rink at the same hour, the hockey team goes against Dartmouth in an effort to extend its unbeaten string to three. On the road, swimmers travel to Ann Arbor for a meet with Michigan. The basketball team heads for North Carolina to face nationally ranked Davidson, and will play its first home game of the new term Monday night at 8 against Furham.

Ivy team is hopeful that the skaters' new-found ability to score is not a dream from when there will be a rude awakening. After losing their first eight games, the Tigers pushed in four goals against RPI and six against Brown. Both games went into overtime. Princeton emerging with a 4-3 victory and a 6-6 tie in that order.

Dartmouth, like the Orange and Black, is hoping that its present freshman class will help it return to higher levels in Ivy and eastern standstill. This season, the Indians are 5-6 and have lost to Harvard and beaten Penn in their only league games. They play Penn again Friday on the Quakers' Cherry Hill ice before coming here.

Princeton goes to Ithaca next Wednesday to face unbeaten Cornell, which is managing to retain its stranglehold on first place despite losses by graduation that would greatly weaken any other Ivy member. The Tigers' hope is to battle such opponents as Penn, Yale and Dartmouth on even terms, using the point gained in the tie with Brown as a stepping stone to a fourth place finish.

Quintel Has Problems. The basketball team has won seven of its first 12 games, but even winter, 71-54. They'll get a Cornell at Ithaca next Thurs. still aided in Ivy action, may Jadinwin next season.

Class of '73 Strong in Winter Sports

Close on the heels of the undefeated record (5-0-1) compiled by Princeton's freshman football team last fall, the Class of 1973 has won 19 of 21 winter sports contests in which it has taken part prior to the term-end exam break.

Five teams are still undefeated, although the combination of holidays and examinations has not permitted steady action. The basketball team is 6-0, the wrestling team has won four, while the swimmers have defeated all opponents and the squash team is unbeaten 1-0. The line defects are in hockey where the freshmen have won six of seven, and in fencing in which the record is 0-1.

There is sufficient ability on the Class of '73 basketball team so that the arrival of two or three first-year players with the incoming freshmen next September should keep Princeton in the thick of the Ivy League race until mid-December. Head of Coach Art Hyland's first-year recruit is Brian Taylor, who is in all probability the best basketball player in enter Princeton since Bill Bradley and may well top all scoring totals save Bradley's by the time he graduates.

Equipped with moves that bespeak extreme ability, Taylor is averaging 27.3 points despite considerable bench time because the freshmen have most games handily. Their average margin over six opponents has been 17 points and their normal productivity is between 85 and 90 points.

Ted Manakan and Bill Doske, the latter the best big man on the squad at 6-8, are both around 16 points a game and there is additional material of varsity calibre. So far, the freshmen have topped Rutgers, Virginia, Manhattan, NYU, Army and Temple, with their toughest game by far coming Saturday against a talented Penn outsize in the Palestra.

A number of Canadians have been the bulwark of the freshman hockey team, which has more good defensemen than any class to enter Princeton in nearly 20 years. The young Tigers have lost to RPI, but held the visitors over a half dozen teams and defeated the varsity in a November scrimmage, 1-0. The most difficult portion of their schedule is yet to come, so that the freshmen remain out on their actual potential for another month.

The wrestling team has already shown more promise than expected from its pre-season roster, with victories over Temple, Colgate, Columbia and Franklin & Marshall. Wrestling has taken a major upturn at Princeton in the past three years, and another good class will keep the Ivy title within the Tigers' reach for several seasons.

Have trouble staying well on; Fordham, always a tough lot of the 300 mark. A tall opponent, will be here Monday night, playing at day and then night and then scheduled home, appears too much for use is all Ivy. The Orange and Black should be able to defeat at Ithaca next Thurs. but Cornell will be favored to win in New York the following Saturday night.

PHS KNOCKING AT DOOR
Of State Tournament. December 19 was a black day for the Princeton High School basketball team.

True, it had won its first two games against Hopewell Valley and Hunterdon Central, but then it lost its third to Franklin, and on the 19th it was destroyed by Trenton, 70-33.

Suddenly there was the chilling realization that this year wasn't going to be any different from the previous two, when PHS won a total of five games. Happily, that chill has given way to a warm glow, for since that December day, the Little Tigers have won six of their last seven. A month later, January 19, they stood at the threshold of the NJSIAA state tournament, needing one — Continued on Next Page more victory to quality.

Ahead of two teams that cannot be labeled as insurmountable roadblocks. Like many other teams in the area, Hamilton, which the Blue and White will meet Friday evening at 8 in the Horner's pressure-cooker gym, is not having one of its better years. In its last contest, Hamilton lost, 51-44, to Steinert, which, in turn, was upended by PHS, 36-32.

Next Tuesday at 8, coach Larry Ivan's team will be at Madison Township. Madison is winless in nine starts, losing 74-50 to Woodbridge in its most recent game.

(For a report on the game on Tuesday of this week against Somerville, see page 32.)

32-30 over Morrisville. Princeton won a 32-30 squeaker Thursday from Morrisville High (2-9) on the losers' court. Actually, both teams played poorly and the only thing that rescued the game from oblivion was its dramatic ending.

With about 45 seconds remaining and the score tied, 30-30, PHS decided to hold the ball and play for the last shot. With seven seconds to go, John Schmidt let fly from the corner. His shot hit the rim and was slapped out of bounds by Morrisville. PHS automatically signalled for an immediate time out.

But instead of approximately three seconds to play as would be expected, the clock showed no time left. Ivan rushed to check with the scorer. Apparently, the timekeeper had let the clock run after the ball had been knocked out of bounds.

Ivan argued since the buzzer had not sounded—the buzzer sounds automatically when time runs out on the Morrisville scoreboard — there had to be some time left. The referee agreed that a half-second remained.

PHS tossed the ball in to Riddell who threw it up one motion. It went in and for the first time in a long time PHS had won a close one. "It was a fantastic game," said Ivan. "There was pandemonium in there. It doesn't have to be an 89 to 88 game to make it exciting. We'll take it."

Ivan later remarked that "Offensively, we actually didn't have a thing going for us. Riddell was not feeling well and he just didn't have it." Riddell, the only player to score more than 20 points this season for PHS, was held to seven.

"We weren't at our best defensively, either Ivan continued. "But, again, it was our defense that pulled us out."

Jeff Haring led PHS in scoring with eight points. Schmidt and Riddell had seven each and Bob Sweeney four. Marc Darrow, who came off the bench to replace starter Tim Taggart, who failed to score, added six more. "Darrow did a great job for us," said Ivan. "Pete Smagorinsky is getting better, too, and that gives a real good bench."

Ivan went on to say that Morrisville may have been a blessing in disguise. "They used a collapsing zone against us — something we hadn't seen before — which really bottled us up. They had three men around Paul and their movement really shut us off. We worked on it and I think we've solved it," Ivan said.

MATHEM WIN TWO MORE

Franklin Here Friday. Franklin may not be a frying pan but Hunterdon Central is most certainly fire, and the Princeton High School wrestling team is determined not to be consumed by the Hunterdon club as it was by North Hunterdon which won every bout but one from the Little Tigers.

Franklin will oppose PHS Friday in the high school gym, starting at 8 p.m. A jaycee match will precede the varsity contest. Then it's off to what PHS coach Tom Murray describes as "our old stamping ground" — Hunterdon

WINNING SHOT IN THE AIR: With the clock showing no time left and the score tied, 30-30, Princeton High School's Paul Riddell lets fly from about five feet out. His shot was good and gave the Little Tigers a dramatic, 32-30 win. The victory — their eighth in 11 starts — placed them in a commanding spot to clinch a berth in the state tournament. Looking on for PHS are Jeff Haring (33) and Marc Darrow (41). (Martin Pankove Photo)

Central. The match will be held in Flemington Wednesday evening at 8.

The Hunterdon schools are pre-eminent in wrestling in central Jersey. North Hunterdon stopped the Little Tigers earlier this year, 37-3. "We're hoping to do a better job against Hunterdon Central; we've come a long way since then," commented Murray. Last week, PHS defeated Lawrenceville School and then routed Trenton for its fifth in "our old stamping ground" — Hunterdon

How to drive a fully automatic Volkswagen:

No shifting. No clutching. And no stopping at every other gas station. With automatic Fastback and Squareback sedans, you can drive about 250 miles on just one tank of regular. (At about 25 miles per gallon.) Which is a lot of gas stations to go past.

a row and a 6-1 record. "We're way ahead of the hall game right now," said Murray, who pointed out that so far, his team has defeated two opponents—Ewing and Tom's River—which had completed PHS last year.

Russel Lopez, First Against Lawrenceville Saturday, PHS was expending trouble from the Larmes (39-6 victor over Peddie) and got it, but not where expected—in the heavy weights, where PHS has been strong. In fact, the Little Tigers lost the last five bouts including a 4-1 loss by Heavyweight Louloun Rossi. Rossi had been undefeated going in to the match.

The visiting Little Tigers had Lawrenceville wrestlers shaking their heads earlier, however, as they swept the first seven bouts. Mark Kahn got PHS off to the right foot in the second round when he pinned his man—the only pin of the afternoon.

Dave MacDonald, Mark Poons, Tom Evans, Chris Cascard, John Cushman and Bob by Arcaro all followed with dreamlike ease. The final was 23-15. Murray reported that Cascard, up from the jayvee squad, wrestled a fine match in the 130 pound bout.

Rossi's pin paced his team mates to an easy 39-8 rout at Trenton earlier in the week.

SOLEBURY NEXT
For Wireless PHS Five, Missing out on its first real opportunity to notch its first victory of the season, Friday, the Princeton Day School basketball team will first of all a little rougher this week as it takes on Solebury School. The contest is set for 3:30 P.M. Friday at Solebury.

The Panthers have even less chance in a contest against highly-touted George School, an upset in four games, in a match scheduled for Wednesday afternoon.

Solebury, less powerful than the immediate rival, will be a formidable rival for PDS. Last Saturday, Solebury tried a Saturday night in a power, but ended up on the short end of a 31-23 count.

Last Friday's contest against the Junior of New Church seemed headed PHS's way until the last part of the fourth quarter. Holding a 30-30 lead, Peter Mitter missed a layup and a chance to go up by 10. New Church then closed the gap steadily, while PDS and deny lost its shooting eye, and didn't hit another basket until the end of the game. By then, New Church had gone ahead in play and won 44-40.

Behind 9-7 at the end of the first quarter, PHS pulled out to a 20-18 lead at halftime and by the margin to 22-12. At the end of three quarters, The Panthers made only 19 of 81 shots from the floor, but actually lost the game on a foul line, where they were able to convert only two of nine.

New Church had fewer field goals, but made 14 of 31 from the charity stripe. In a game against Hun last Wednesday, the Panthers were definitely outclassed, but still showed fairly well in a 83-52 victory. Hun got off to a 29-13 lead in the first quarter, but Hun it up from there.

HUN WINS TWO MORE.
Rat George School is Next. Neither a showdown nor neighborhood rival were able to prevent the Hun School basketball team from winning its fifth and sixth games last week, but coming up is a meeting with undefeated George School.

Friday at 4, coach Dave Lee's Hun squad will travel in Pennington for a contest with Pennington Prep. Then on Saturday, Hun will come its showdown with George School (4-0) next Wednesday afternoon in Hun's new gym at 2:45. Hun was also scheduled to play at Lawrenceville this Wednesday in Laving Gym.

George, together with Germantown Friends, have been picked by Lee as the teams to beat for the championship of the Penn-Jersey League, in which Hun is the co-defender with Germantown. In its last start, George romped over Girard, 99-71. The Cougars were led by identical twins Ron and Don Hancock who combined for 38 points.

Saturday at Solebury, Hun was able to overcome a game long still by the Spartans for a 31-23 victory. Hun was leading, 22-21, with six minutes to go when Mike Maguire and Dirk Whitehead combined for seven consecutive points for Hun in the final period to put the game out of reach.

"We played good defense; we just weren't able to shoot as well," said Lee. He went on with his five starters. "They all played well because Solebury pressured us quite a lot," he said.

For Hun, Maguire hit for eight baskets—four more than any other player—for 16 points. Mike Rood had seven, Whitehead four and Bill Crawford and Rich Ziegler two each.

The score was tied 4-4 at the end of the first quarter. At the half it was 19-9. Solebury, and 18-17, Hun, after three periods. Hun is now 6-1.

In a jayvee game, Hun defeated Solebury reserves, 103-17. Alan Chalifoux led the rout with 26. "It wasn't a matter of running up the score, it just couldn't be helped," said Lee.

Tops PDS, 83-52. Earlier, Hun opened a 26-16 first period lead against the Princeton Day School Hoosiers team. In a 33-21 victory, Maguire, 29 points, and Ziegler and Lee Van Horn, 11 each, were tops for Hun. Van Horn has since been sidelined with an ankle injury.

PDS TO MEET CHANFORD
In Return Engagement. Sporting a 6-1 record, with the only loss to the Princeton Freshmen, the Princeton Day School Hoosiers team find itself scheduled against a weak Chanford team for the second time in three weeks. The Panthers whipped the visitors, 7-0, in the first meeting January 7. The action is set for 4:30 Friday on PDS ice.

The return match shouldn't provide much of a test for the Blue and White, which only has to guard against a let down. A week from Friday, PHS will have a better chance to prove itself, against a Wilsahickon squad, that knocked off the Panthers twice last year.

The swany game will give a good indication of how far the Blue and White may go this year. Wilsahickon topped the Princeton High School skaters, 7-2, in a recent meeting.

For its part, Princeton Day had just as easy a time with the Little Tigers, winning a 9-1 score last Friday at PDS, the home rink for both schools.

The high school players were fired up from the opening face-off, and appeared ready to give the Panthers a stiff battle all the way. Although PDS got an early goal by Jim Rodgers on assists by Robbie King and Art Mittenicht, the high school tied the score with half the period gone.

However, near the end of the period, Peter McCandless tallied and Jim Rodgers tipped in a shot by Fred Woodworth to give PDS a 3-1 advantage. When John Moore found the mark on assists from Sam Rodgers and Fred Schluter with just six seconds gone in the second stanza, the outcome was settled.

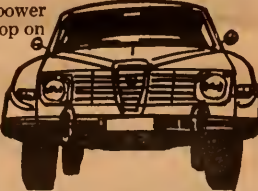

The rest of the Panthers' scoring came from Sam Rodgers on a fine pass from Schluter; another unassisted tally by McCandless; Jim Rodgers on passes from Debs Young and McCandless; John Mittenicht, assisted by Alex Laughlin and Woodworth; and Schluter, unassisted. As he pointed out, coach Harry Rulon Miller's main problem at the moment is keeping his boys up between games.

BANK NAMES TWO

For Trust Division Posts. Two appointments to the trust department of the First National Bank of Princeton were announced this week by Ralph H. Mather, president.

Gerald P. Schroth, of Trenton, has been named manager of the trust department and trust officer. Formerly with the Girard Trust Bank's estate and financial planning division in Philadelphia, Mr. Schroth was an assistant trust officer and internal legal counsel.

Appointed trust investment officer was W. Jeffrey Maiden, Windsor Castle apartments, Cranbury. Mr. Maiden has been an account executive with Dean Witter and Company, and a credit analyst with the Philadelphia National Bank.

Mr. Schroth is a graduate of the Fordham University School of Law and St. Joseph's College in Philadelphia. He is a member of the Philadelphia Estate Planning Council, the St. Mary's Cathedral Choir of Trenton, the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine of St. Raphael's parish of Trenton, and the Hamilton Township Civic basketball league. He and his wife, Marilyn, have five children. Mr. Maiden is a graduate of Gettysburg (Pa.) College, and a member of the Investment Association of Philadelphia, the Sons of the American Revolution, and the English Speaking Union.

FMC ADDS SPACE

Steam Plant Contract Let. Two recent moves at the FMC Corporation's Research and Development Center on Route 1 point the way for expanded activity there in the near future.

The company has just acquired 50 acres of additional land behind its main building, to permit expansion of operations in the year ahead. A total of 124 acres is now owned by FMC at the Plainsboro Road site.

In addition, FMC has just let a $600,000 contract to S. T. Peterson of Princeton, for construction of a central utility building which will supply all operations with steam and compressed air in quantity.

The main consumer will be the company's $42 million pilot plant for the conversion of coal into synthetic crude oil, a process for which FMC is a prime contractor to the U.S. Department of the Interior, Office of Coal Research.

The new plant will also produce pipeline gas and fuel oil. Located west of Plainsboro Road, it will be in operation by mid-1970, according to Dr. Snerma K. Reed, director of FMC's Central Research department. He regards the plant as a "major step" toward commercialization of the coal conversion process.

TWO APPOINTMENTS MADE

The concert will be under the direction of Sylvan Friedman and Walter Horner. Admission is free.

MUSIC FROM MOSCOW

Philharmonic Unimpressed.

On a snow swept Tuesday evening, The Moscow Philharmonic, with Yon Temirkanov, conducting, presented a concert at McCarter Theater in the fourth of this season's "Music At McCarter" series. The program, which really offered no surprises, included Tchaikovsky's "4th Symphony," a "Concerto Buffo" for Chamber Orchestra by the contemporary Soviet composer, Sergei Slonimsky, and the tone poem, "Don Juan" by Richard Strauss.

The prototype gestures of Mr. Temirkanov's conducting style did nothing to enhance or detract from the generally robust reading the orchestra gave of Tchaikovsky's famed masterpiece, a "warhorse" that admittedly stands up extremely well both as a well composed piece and an inspired one. The orchestra, however, did not impress this reviewer as being an outstanding musical organization. In the United States, our best second ranked orchestras play easily as well, if not a good deal more precisely, with better overall tone qualities. (This is not an attempt on the part of this listener to group the "cold war," but merely a musical judgment based on what one heard in the way of execution, tone and ensemble technique.)

Errors in Execution. The Strauss score provided the best example of inadequacies in all three areas. "Don Juan" is no mean feat for any orchestra. In fact, it is often used in additions of new or orchestra players to test the performer's skills.

The Moscow ensemble made several gross errors in execution. At one point, it was as if several seconds of agonizing disarray, as the brass entered early at one point near the beginning of the piece, had the temerity to keep playing while the rest of the orchestra remained a measure or so behind. Good solid professionals will make mistakes now and then, but they don't compound the misdeeds by ineptness.

Regarding other aspects of performance, the monotonous left something to be desired throughout the playing of "Don Juan." The winds were sharp continually and this was distracting, especially when their services were employed for a particular passage heard in the strings.

The general tone of the woodwind section was not very solid or well balanced when compared with American or English orchestras. The section also seemed to have its moments of attack, and fall throughout the Strauss, where there were places where the basses and timpani insisted on attacking their notes before they were supposed to.

To add to this distraction, Mr. Temirkanov injected nothing in the score in the way of a personal interpretation other than the aforementioned acrobatic gestures. The great deal of music featuring one of the memorable passages of the orchestra repertoire (the famed horn call) was poorly prepared and (though well executed by the horn section) seemed too quirky for its noble effect to be realized. In short, the Strauss work was poorly played and was a disappointment to those who had heard the music so highly.

An Attempt at "Camp." The Chamber Concerto Buffo by the young Mr. Slonimsky is not so very funny as it is poorly written. It appears to be a sincere attempt to blend the idioms of 19th century melody and popular latin rhythms into a thing called "camp." In this it may have succeeded, but the work is still very "square," generally uneven, and not really humorous, unless you like old movie gags of the thirties.

There was an encore, the Boccherini Minuet arranged for "Toy Symphony" orchestra. At least, that is what it was played, charmingly, with the conductor gesticulating all over the place.

PHS IS IN

Defeats Somerville, 32-38.

"We're in!" said a happy Larry Ivan Tuesday afternoon after his Princeton High School basketball team had defeated visiting Somerville to distraction for a 32-38 victory. The victory, number nine against three losses, qualifies the Little Tigers for the NJSIAA post-season tournament.

Thus, after two lean years in which his teams won a total of five games, Ivan has assembled a well organized and coached team that demonstrates with every passing game that it has confidence in itself. Ivan has also made good on his pre season goal of earning a berth in the tournament.

Ivan summed up the victory over Somerville in two words. "Good defense." Somerville, which lost its 10th game in 10 leads, jumped to an early 10 lead on baskets by John Wilson and John Vandervoort. After PHS came back with five quick points on baskets by John Schmidt and Tim Taggart and a free throw by Taggart, Somerville went ahead again, 6-3.

It was not to get its next basket until 2:38 left in the second quarter. At the half it was 28-13.

Sweeney Excels. Typical of the play that has limited Princeton teams to an average of 33 points a game since the holiday break was that of Bobby Sweeney. Sweeney stole the ball twice, back to back, in the second period and drove the length of the court for four points. In the half, the 5'11 guard had four of his team's 17 rebounds, four stolen balls and three assists. His four quick points staked PHS to a 22-6 lead.

"Sweeney played his best game. No question about it," said Ivan.

In fact, it all fell together that afternoon for PHS. The outside shots were dropping and the team shot a respectable 47.5 in the first half. There were very few mistakes, as the team was content to rely on set plays and play for the one shot.

Most encouraging of all was the play of the bench. Pete Smagorinsky, Marc Darrow, Jeff Grover and Bob Bruschini all did well. Bruschini, a diminutive guard, handled the ball

UNITY SERVICE SET

For This Sunday. The Week of Prayer for Christian Unity closes on Sunday with a service at 4:45 p.m. in Princeton University Chapel.

Bishop Prince A. Taylor, of the New Jersey Area will preach on the topic, "The Unity We Seek." The Rev. Christopher C. Kellin on the Aquinas Foundation at Princeton, will celebrate the Roman Catholic mass at one of the two communion tables planned.

Clergymen from First Presbyterian Church, Trinity Episcopal Church will serve the elements for the celebration of the Lord's Supper at the other table.

The worship service is sponsored by a sub-committee of the Princeton Theological Council, in cooperation with the Princeton Pastors' Association.

CANA CONFERENCE SET

At St. Paul's. A series of conferences for married couples will be held at St. Paul's School on three successive Sunday evenings from 7 to 9, beginning February 1. The conferences are planned opportunistically for review and reinforcement of the meaning of marriage, and are directed to all married couples in the community.

Each conference will be devoted to discussion of two topics, and a common theme. Refreshments will be served during an intermission.

The Rev. Ralph F. Ranieri of St. Paul's is conference chairman. Mr. and Mrs. William Kelly are handling arrangements.

The schedule is as follows: February 1, "The Family" is the theme; The sociology of the family, the family and marriage are the topics; February 8, "Between Parent and Child" is the theme; The parent and the adolescent; February 15, "Sex and Marriage"; Dr. Michael Heeg will be the speaker on the sociology of sex and family planning; the theology of sex and family planning is the second theme; February 22, "The Cana Conferences are directed to Mr. and Mrs. Kelly, as well as pre-regulation.

BULLETIN NOTES

An inter-faith panel will lead discussion on "Theology of Touch About Religion?" this Sunday evening at the School of Mission studies being held at the Princeton Theological Seminary. Participants will be the Rev. Joseph O'Neill, S.J., Rabbi Reeve Brenner of the Princeton Jewish Center and the Rev. Dr. Walter Carvin, pastor of Princeton Baptist Church, as moderator. Attorney Ralph Zigler will summarize the Supreme Court ruling on religion in the schools. The School of Mission is sponsored also by Dutch Neck Presbyterian Church and the Peace of the Church. The Church has had for its theme, "The Church and the School." Sunday's session, which begins at 8:30, is open to all interested individuals.

Rev. Dr. Charles T. Fritch, dean of Princeton Theological Seminary, continues his seminar on the Bible this Sunday, starting at 8 p.m. The final lecture is scheduled for Thursday, January 29. The adult education center at the Center is sponsor.

Emile Zaki, an Arab Christian, will address the "Friday Night At Eight Group" this week at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, 100 N. Laurel Circle. The group is a couples' club. Mr. Zaki, an Egyptian, is a pastor of the Anglican Church in the Middle East. He is studying at Princeton Seminary in preparation for his M.D. at the Christian Church in Egypt next year.

During World War II, Dr. Stone served as a captain in the U.S. Medical Corps in the Caribbean. Thereafter he came to Princeton as a resident at City Hospital, and later served in similar capacity at the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia University in New York.

While conducting a private practice in New York, Dr. Stone joined Princeton Hospital, Dr. Stone also found time to return to the College of Physicians and Surgeons at Columbia, where he held the rank of Professor of Obstetrics and Gynecology. He was a Fellow of the American College of Surgeons, a Diplomate of the American Board of Obstetrics and Gynecology, and a member of the Curricular Committee of the University of Nevada Medical School.

A memorial service for Princeton Hospital medical Director, Taylor, head of the New Jersey Area of the United Methodist Church, will be the preacher at this Sunday's eucharistic service at 8:45 a.m. in Princeton University Chapel, marking the close of the 1970 Week of Prayer for Christian Unity.

Dr. C. Howard Hopkins, professor of history at Rider College will discuss aspects of the life of missionary John H. Morford in the early ecumenical movement at the 10 a.m. worship service Sunday in Christ Congregation, Walnut Lane. A former dean at Westminster Choir College and Stetson University, Dr. Hopkins is writing Morford's biography. He is the author of the official history of the YMCA in the United States and of "The Rise of the Social Gospel in American Protestantism."

"New Black Directions Under The New Federation" will be explored by Chuck Stone, author and journalist, at the 10 a.m. service at the Unitarian Church of Princeton. He has recently completed a semester as John T. Donnan Professor at Trinity College, Hartford.

He holds degrees from Wesleyan University and the University of Chicago, and is editor of three of the more influential Negro newspapers, the Washington Afro-American and the Chicago Defender before becoming special assistant to the chairman of the Education Labor Committee in Congress. The author of "Tell It Like It Is," "The Negro in America," let for May publication.

Obituaries

Raymond, now stationed in Vietnam, was the oldest of six children; a sister, Mrs. Martha Heuser, and two brothers, George and Severa Hausen, all of Brooklyn. The service was held in the Kimble Funeral Home, the Rev. William Petz of Griggstown Reformed Church officiating. Interment was in Griggstown Cemetery.

Mrs. Marie Edling, 90, formerly of Hopewell, died January 14 in a nursing home in Quakertown, Pa. She was the widow of Herman H. Edling. Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Robert Pope of Quakertown; a son, Dr. Howard Hopewell and Otto G. of Englewood, Fla.; three grandchildren, seven great-grandchildren and a great-great-grandchild.

The service was held in the Presbyterian Church in Highland Cemetery.

Dr. Raymond E. Stone, 49, a former resident of Princeton, died at one time an Atlantic Staff Member at Princeton Hospital. He carried on a 17 of a heart attack in Reno, Nevada. He had made his home here for several years, engaged in private practice and serving as a staff member at St. Mary's Hospital and Washington Medical Center in Reno. Born in Oradell, N. J., Dr. Stone was a member of the Princeton University Medical School, where he captained the Princeton team and was also active in swimming, soccer and lacrosse. He received his M.D. at the Medical College of Virginia.

Princeton University's football coaching staff has a vacancy. Fred Olszewski, who worked with the offense and backs on offense, is leaving Princeton to take a position on the staff at West Virginia University. Olszewski was a member of the Princeton team from Pittsburgh last winter as one of the first selections Jake McCandless made when he succeeded Dick Colman. He was credited with a share of the success of the Princeton offense in converting to a T-formation attack good enough to give them a tie for the Ivy League fourth place finish in 1968.

Individually, Sara Rose paced Russo's with 196. Emma Lohouse was high for Pin Pals with 120 others. Fred Olszewski, 169; Lill Coleman of Rocky & Sons, 167; and Fernie de Plainsburg, 165.

Carol Osburn and Emma Lohouse converted to the Lutheran Church.

CHAPIN SPLITS GAMES

In Junior Basketball. The Chapin School basketball team opened its season with a 20-10 victory over Pennington Prep and a loss to Princeton Day School. Against a taller Pennington Prep team, Chapin was shorter and faster players to make repeated steals and fast breaks. Keith Loughlin was instrumental in this effort with seven steals. Scott Connor and Peter Norton scored 10 points apiece for Chapin. Against the PDS Juniors, Chapin was beaten 36-27. Connor had 14 points to lead the scoring.

BOWLING NOTES

YWCA ELECTIONS SET

Open Session Monday. Installation ceremonies are planned Monday night for the new president of the Board of Directors of the YWCA and members of the board's Class of 1972. Nominates for the election are being chosen by mail ballot in advance of the meeting.

The 8 p.m. meeting in the YWCA building on Walton Place will be followed by an Open Board session, which YWCA members are urged to attend.

The annual open meeting is the first chance each year for YW members to directly affect the managing of YWCA affairs, and each member should be at this meeting. Attend Mrs. Heath Licklider, our president.

Constitutional revisions concerning membership dues will also be voted upon. Mrs. Licklider will preside at both meetings and Mrs. Robert Weiss is hospitality chairman.

HIGDON STUDENT TALK

Scheduled At Middle School. "Conversations with Middle Schoolers," is the name of the second YWCA program for students, with students, scheduled for Monday at 4 in the all-purpose room at Community Park.

After a general presentation of common concerns of Middle School students, the meeting will break into small groups of 20 or less, each containing several students, parents, and a school staff member or guidance counselor. Manners and morals, pressures on middle schoolers, and the evaluation of students are expected to be topics of the close up discussions.

A similar meeting November 19 on student concerns drew almost 200 people. About 60 students from the meeting of eighth and eighth grades will attend this week's meeting.

Among the group discussion leaders will be Mrs. Ruth Leach, Miss Gal Fishberg, Mrs. Peg C. Henning, Mrs. Georgine Hall, Mrs. Joanne Mowers, Mrs. Elaine Bart, Mrs. Janice Haggood, Mrs. Sharon Powell, Mrs. Martin Bell, Mrs. Jane Brooks, Mrs. Alex Reed, Mrs. Phyllis Zlotogora and Joseph Hovance.

50 YEARS OF SERVICE

Jaycees Celebrate Founding. Fifty years ago this week the national Jaycee organization was founded with its members dedicated to the tenet in the organization's creed, "Service to Humanity."

The Princeton Jaycees, a group of 36 men, aged 21-35, are celebrating the week with work on various projects designed to follow through on the organization's motto.

The best-known is the annual football classic, pitting the Princeton Giants against the Philadelphia Eagles at Franklin Stadium each fall, for the benefit of charities throughout the state. Already the most successful project undertaken by the Jaycees on a statewide level, this endeavor has provided some $30,000 for projects area charities and organizations and more than $1 million statewide.

The Jaycee Summer for Kids, a new project last year, is based on the experience gained in placing nearly 800 New York City children in foster homes for the past 15 years with the Fresh Air Fund. Originally conceived to provide Trenton children with the same experience, the program has spread to several major cities in the state and across the country.

It began last year with vacation for 66 children; this year, the program approached 1,000. Additionally, the Jaycees are exploring the idea of exchanging program to include experience in industry and suburban children and vacations for migrant children.

The Jaycee sponsored art show, a week long showing of painting and other works helps the organization raise money for distribution to worthy organizations in the community.

One such organization is the VIP's, a drill team of 15 Princeton youngsters aged eight to 15. Since last August, the members of the team, the Jaycees have sold candy to raise money toward the purchase of uniforms and gear. The Princeton Jaycees have provided transportation for the team to perform at various functions and public events.

An old standby under the new joint sponsorship with the Princeton Regional School system, the Electronic Workshop has several Jaycee volunteers teaching interested youngsters how to make simple electronic devices on Saturday mornings during January and February at the John Witherspoon School.

In addition to lending a hand to the Hospital Fete, and donating $100 toward the proceeds of the event, the Jaycees have a project to provide English-speaking European teachers with two weeks stay in local homes during the summer. The teachers will be provided with free room and board by participating families, and will make two more weeks traveling a round the country.

Only a snowmobile could go as many places as our well-built Swede.

SAAB is built to be driven even above the Arctic Circle. (A good part of Sweden, where SAAB is built, lies in the Arctic.) And even if you don't have to go through an 8-month long winter, you'll be glad SAAB has front wheel drive, a fresh air heater and initial cold starting ability. The fact is, SAAB is the one car really made for winter driving. So if you want a true snowmobile, get a SAAB.

NEED MORE ROOM?

FIVE BEDROOMS . . . and 3 baths! On a wooded lot in North Lawrence, but with a Princeton telephone and a Princeton mailing address, this is an excellent home for a growing family. Foyer with slate floor, living room with fireplace, dining room, large kitchen, laundry, family room, 2 bedrooms and 2 baths are on the first floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Three-zone heat with baseboard radiation, Pella double windows throughout. The owner is a custom builder, and he devoted a lot of his superior craftsmanship to this fine home. The triangular lot has 385 feet of road frontage by 527 feet by 653 feet - a wonderful place for your children to play. The well delivers 20 gallons per minute, which is plenty for a big swimming pool when the time comes to add it. $62,500

EXPANSION ATTIC . . . often the nicest words that the parents of a growing family can ever hear. Here is a lovely one-story home on a small overlooking Roundale Road. 3 acres of land with beautiful trees and shrubs. Living room 15'x30' with fireplace, separate dining room, spacious kitchen (17'9"x14'), paneled study, master bedroom 19'x15', two 14'x15' bedrooms, 2 full baths, extra bedroom for a maid or guest. Large attic is completely floored and could be two more bedrooms and bath, and plenty of closets. House newly painted outside. This property is only a few minutes from Princeton, and benefits from both a Princeton address and telephone. Please phone for appointment. $69,500

LIVE IN THE COUNTRY . . . and close to Beden's Brook, where the hillside above is jeweled with the fairytale dream of a beautiful golf course. The house hides behind shade trees and clipped hedges for that ever-desired privacy. A clover lot behind its washed brick facade and shake roof reveals a home decorated with loving care. It's a warm living room with adjoining dining area, there's a den with beamed ceiling, a music room with a slate floor, comfy kitchen, as well as (typical) three bedrooms, sitting room, and bath. What an opportunity to escape to an exclusive estate area! $49,500

ENTERTAIN LIKE A STAR! . . . in this perfect old Colonial (circa 1740) which is one of the showplaces of a neighboring village. Downstairs, the room is large and great for entertaining - especially the music (or family) room where the owner and his friends have played chamber music for 20 years. 1.7 acres of land, with many great old shade trees and beautiful hedges to guarantee privacy. Gracious entrance hall, large living room with fireplace, family room with high ceiling, paneled walls and fireplace. Heated sun room facing the lovely garden, with thermopane doors. Spacious dining room, large modern kitchen, powder room, work room (or laundry) and 2-car attached garage. 4 bedrooms, 2 baths. Special burglar alarm already installed. Visit our office, at your earliest convenience, and see our color photos of this beautiful home. $78,500

NEED LESS ROOM?

Here is an old Colonial, charmingly restored, which is ideal for a couple 200 years old, but with all the modern conveniences. Plenty of land down-hill from the house for gardening, plus a fenced rear yard for outdoor living. Living room with fireplace, combination den and dining room, powder room, modern kitchen with breakfast porch. Upstairs: 2 bedrooms, study and bath. High on a hill with a view of the beautiful Hopewell Valley. Landscaping ingeniously planned for off-street parking. This house is located on a corner, and later on, it could be added to and a new driveway put in with access to the side road. $37,500

Many more fine homes in Princeton & vicinity in a wide range. Ample parking space for our clients.

PRISTINE NEW HOUSE FOR RENT — On Snowden Lane in Princeton Township. Living room with fireplace, separate dining room, kitchen, family room, laundry and lavatory on first floor. Four bedrooms, 2 baths, sun deck.
$500 per month. Available now.

NEAR GRIGGSTOWN OVERLOOKING THE CANAL — An interesting old Colonial built in 1786 with a wing added later, it has an unusual amount of space.
On the first floor, there is a wide center hall, living room with fine old mantle and fireplace, solarium with southeastern exposure, paneled library with beamed ceiling and fireplace with original mantle, dining room also with beams and fireplace, kitchen and pantry, plus second kitchen or laundry.
On the second floor there are eight bedrooms and 3 baths including a perfect master bedroom with vaulted ceiling and adjoining dressing room-bath. The four fireplaces all work and there is some fine authentic woodwork and hardware. Needs some restoration and modernization but has great potential! All on an acre knoll with fine shade trees. $69,500

A PERFECT MATCH. A five bedroom house with an excellent floor plan for a young family on pretty Township street in a balanced neighborhood of old and young families with children of all ages. Foyer, living room (large enough to house a baby grand piano) with fireplace, dining room, modern kitchen with breakfast area, secluded study, and laundry-lavatory on first floor. On a lower level, a children's playroom opens to a brick paved terrace. Master bedroom, sitting room, and bath occupy one bedroom level, while three children's bedrooms and bath occupy another. Nearly two-thirds of an acre, with exceptional planting, fruit trees, and brick walks. Walking distance to Littlebrook School. $64,800

SOMETHING OF VALUE. A well-maintained ranch house with a conventional look on the outside but with some happy surprises inside. Unusually wide entrance hall with slate floor adjoins on one side a small but pleasant living room with bow window, and on the other an unusually spacious separate dining room. To the rear is a paneled family room with wood burning fireplace and a thermopane door leading to a raised outdoor deck and patio. The kitchen contains the usual built-ins plus dishwasher and disposal, and roomy eating area. There are three bedrooms and two baths including an amplified master bedroom with its own bath. The partial basement is dry and usable and there is a storage attic with pull-down stairs. Two-car attached garage. All located near Kingstown with a Princeton mailing address. $36,500
